ANNUAL MEETING POSTPONED

The Financial Report, Which Will Be Made Public Later, May Be a Disappointment to Many, But the Cause is at Once Apparent.

The News Review today gives a pen
sketch of the beautiful new hospital building from two points of view. The institution is to be erected on lower Sixth street, work on the same to be commenced in the early spring.

The sketches are the work of Harry Frost, the talented young architect of this city, and are an exact reproduction
of what the buildings will look like
when completed and ready for occupancy. The drawings were made from Architect Hammond's blue prints,
which, until recently, have been in the hands of local contractors.

The entire structure is to be of
pressed brick with stone caps and sills.
The materials to be used must, according to the specifications, be first class
in every particular.

The building will front 47 feet on Sixth street, the smaller illustration showing front elevation of the administration building. The exterior appearance of this portion of the building, while most substantial, is pretty and well proportioned. Forty feet from the curb line of Sixth street, and
on a slight elevation the front portico
feet, having four large colonial columns, the floor being of granite, a composition of cement and stone. The front door is very attractive, being fitted with artistic checkered glass, beveled, and French plate in quality. Entering the vestibule, which is large and well furnished, one passes into the hall
beyond without apparently being aware of it, so wide and lofty is the passage. This hall is crossed in the center of the administration building
by another hall of precisely the same dimensions. From these halls the various offices which accommodate the officials of the institution are communicated with. Opening from the main hall is a door leading into the northeast corner room of the administration building. Here we have the business office. The room is 13x17.6, and is to be fitted with the best of office furniture.

Across the hall, also at the front of the building is located the operating room. The dimensions of the apartment are the same as those of the business office, and granite flooring is provided. Immediately to the rear of this room, and communicating with it
by folding doors, is the etherizing recovery department, measuring 11x11.
Behind the office, at the southwest corner is found the dispensary room—
a most important department—11x18
feet. This room is provided with the very latest and most approved equipment found in a first class hospital.

The basement of the administration building is arranged for kitchen and dining room. The former very essential department occupies a space 18x28
on the east side of the basement, while
the dining room will be just opposite,
but not so large, being only 11x15.6.

The top floor of the main building
will be taken up by seven bed chambers, the average size of which is 10x12. These rooms are to be nicely furnished, each containing an open fire place and hard wood or slate mantels. The floor also contains a toilet and bath room.

Just south of the building described
above, and occupying a space 8.6x47
feet between the administration and ward buildings, is the sun parlor. This apartment is designed for the convalescent, and contains couches and numberless easy chairs. The room is well ventilated, and entrance may be gained from either side by means of doors or through the administration building.
The walls of the room are composed wholly of glass, and special pains has been taken to make it comfortable
and attractive.

Adjoining the sun parlor and extending south for a distance of 65 feet
are two commodious ward buildings.

They have no connection, one with another, and the only communication possible is through the sun parlor or
the administration building.

At the north end of each ward building are situated the apartments of the attendants. The basement of this portion of the building is arranged to accommodate the heating apparatus. The arrangement of this system is by far the most perfect scheme ever put into operation in this section. The room is 23x31, and the equipment, consisting of boilers and coal bins, is absolutely without a flaw. The registers are made to connect with every part of the building. On the main floor is located the linen room, toilet room,
nurses' apartments and ward kitchen.
These rooms are about 10.6x10.6. Each ward department, both of which open from these rooms, is 25x65 feet, and are separated their entire length by a court 46 feet in width.

On going into the ward rooms, each of which is provided with 14 beds, the visitor is attracted by the perfect arrangement of the apartment. At the foot of each bed, and just under its edge, is a hot air register, which can be regulated by the attendant. In the wall near the floor at the head of each bed is a foul air passage. This latter arrangement connects with the attic,

and from there passes to the outside
by means of ventilators on the roof.
The entire building occupies an area 108x173 feet, and is planned with the greatest care with reference to sanitary surroundings.

The couple were married in 1886 and

BIDDLE BROTHERS

Were For a Time Residents of This City and Worked Swindling Game Here.

Investigation of a rumor which has
been quietly circulated about the city,
disclosed the somewhat interesting
fact today that the famous Biddle
brothers, who escaped from the Allegheny county jail at Pittsburgh a few days ago, being later rounded up by detectives and shot to death, were in this city several weeks during the summer of 1900.

The brothers were representatives
of a branch store of a woolen company, which was located on Market street, at the corner of Drury lane,
where the office of the Ft. Pitt Gas company is at present located.

It is recalled by a number of persons who had dealings with the woolen company that several salesmen worked in this city and Wells-ville during the months the firm was located here. The Biddle boys were among the number, and it is said that during the last few weeks they remained with the company they practiced a swindling game that netted
them handsome profits.

Their game was to take orders for suits of clothes, the price charged for each being $15. With each order
the purchaser was asked to pay down $5 with the understanding that the balance, $10, was to be forthcoming
when the suits were delivered.

The fact that this method had been
the rule of the company made it an easy matter for the Biddles to gather
in victims, and it is known that no
less than 20 persons paid their $5
each for a suit of clothes that never was made. After the tricky brothers had left the city other salesmen of

Point Pleasant church Saturday evening, a large number of people had gathered, principally coming in sleighs. Newton Coulson was among the first to leave the church. In making a turn his sleigh was overturned.
The horse became frightened, turned around and ran back toward the church. A sleigh containing Garfield King and a young lady with him was struck by the horse. The shaft of Coulson's sleigh struck King's horse in the breast, causing a wound 15 inches deep, and killing the animal.
No person was hurt.

CUPID AGAIN VICTORIOUS DESPITE MUCH ADVERSITY

However, a meeting will be held and a number of matters in need of attention will be looked after.

One of the most important duties
of the officers on the occasion of the regular annual meeting is the auditing of the treasurer's books, a task
that will have to be performed before
a financial statement is given out. It was hoped that a financial report of the condition of the association could be used in connection with this article, but it will be impossible owing to the postponement of the meeting.

Some of the contractors who were asked to bid on the construction of the building have informed the building committee that they hesitate to do so because it is feared the amount of money on hand will not justify them in taking hold of the work. The association hopes to satisfy the contractors and the public in general
upon this subject as soon as the report can be prepared.

It is a fact, however, that the statement will be a surprise to many, as it will show less ready money in the hands of the association than would

Message That Caused Great Com-

Excitement was worked to a high pitch last evening as a result of the elopement of Robert Miller, of Wells-
ville, and Miss Christina Kinsvatter,
of this city, both of whom disappeared yesterday morning, being later
married at Steubenville.

The bride is the daughter of Lawrence Kinsvatter, of the West End,
and has been clerking in Jacob Stein's store on Sixth street for some time. Miller is a brother of Mrs.
Stein and has been in charge of the store at Wellsville. Until a few weeks ago he managed Stein's store
in this city. He paid close attention to Miss Kinsvatter, which ripened into
a warm infatuation.

It is said that the young lady's parents objected to her companionship
with Miller and had refused to permit the young man to call on her.
This barrier was not sufficient to overcome the growing love and at last it was decided to cap the climax
by marriage.

Making all preparations Sunday
night the couple boarded the early morning train at Wellsville and went to Steubenville, where the binding knot was tied. Then boarding a Panhandle train the couple started for New York.

When Pittsburgh was reached Mrs.
Miller stopped long enough to send
a telegram to her mother announcing her marriage, which was received last evening. The contents of the message was read with great surprise and when the facts of the elopement became known about the city many of the friends of the couple were almost dumbfounded.

Both held high positions in society
and have a wide acquaintance. It was due to these facts that their romantic marriage has given rise to many exclamations of surprise.

Afternoon.

The New Century club met Saturday
afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. D.
West, on Robinson street. The subject taken up was "The Home." After a number of quotations from Dickens,
the interest of the home was discussed at length. It was the opinion of all present that the health of the primary departments of the public schools was in need of better regulations. The club was entertained by Professor S.
Mortimer Omohundro.

Columbus, February 4.—The petition in error prepared by Attorney General Sheets to contest the decision of the Butler county circuit court declaring unconstitutional the stationary engineers' law, will be filed in the supreme court today by S. M. Bennett, special counsel in the office of the attorney general. Mr. Bennett will argue the case for the state. Judge Sheets rules that the law will remain effective until the decision of the highest tribunal is given.

District Examiner Elmer E. Miller, of Canton, helped to institute a lodge of engineers at Piqua on Saturday evening. The association has 16 charter members. Next Saturday night another association will be formed at Gallion with 32 charter members. H.
W. Barnes, of Akron, state deputy of the National Association of Stationary
Engineers, will institute the lodge.
There are 70 branch associations in Ohio.

Senator Patterson, of Pike, introduced a bill in the senate Monday afternoon, which, in effect, provides that no change shall be made in congressional districts of the state. Representative Duvall, of Jefferson county, introduced a bill in the house repealing the Garfield corrupt practice act.

Two important bills were introduced by Representative Williams, of Youngstown. One provides for the submission to the voters at the fall election in 1903 the question of an

Sanitary Officer Burgess well remembers Jack Biddle, as that young

Jack Biddle and also Ed Biddle. During a conversation in Larkins' drug

three of the persons who were among the group talking the case over had been swindled by the Biddle boys.

It could not be learned where the young men boarded while here, but both occupied a room which they rented from a woman living on Jack-

to a reporter today by a well known business man that the Biddles first met May Smith during the time they worked here. The woman has always contended that she did not know either of the young men until they came to her house while she was living in Pittsburg, where Ed Biddle killed Defective Fitzgerald.

Contrary to Mrs. Smith's claim,
however, the business man referred to stated positively that he had seen
Mrs. Smith and both of the Biddles
in his place of business at various times conversing together. The same claim is made by others who contend that it was the Biddles who first induced Mrs. Smith to go to Pittsburg.

the friends of the couple were almost
dumbfounded.

Both held high positions in society
and have a wide acquaintance. It was due to these facts that their romantic

Afternoon.

The New Century club met Saturday
afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. D.
West, on Robinson street. The subject taken up was "The Home." After
a number of quotations from Dickens,
the interest of the home was discussed
at length. It was the opinion of all present that the health of the primary
departments of the public schools was
in need of better regulations. The club was entertained by Professor S.
Mortimer Omohundro.

Republicans Find It Difficult to Find a Man Willing to Be a Candidate.

The matter of having a Republican assessor for the Fifth ward is causing considerable discussion in that part of the city just now. When the Republican central committee adjourned last Saturday evening the assessorship of the Fifth ward was left blank because no one had signified a desire to run for the place, and now the vacancy has to be filled by the committee of the ward. One of the committeemen called upon Walter Supplee last evening and also on William Kinney, asking them to make the race at the primaries.

Mr. Kinney refused to allow his name to be used, and Mr. Supplee stated that his name could be used, but he will not make a fight for the position.

James Orr, a Democrat, is filling the office of assessor of the Fifth ward now and many Republicans speak well of his work during his term of office.

The Republican candidate for this office last year was Lot Haney, but he was defeated by Mr. Orr.

OVERCOME BY THE COLD

Young Lady Rendered Unconscious By Exposure to the Freezing Atmosphere.

Lillian Smith, residing near Dry Run, who is employed in the decorating department of the Laughlin pottery, while coming to her work yesterday morning, was almost frozen. The wind blowing up Pennsylvania avenue was very raw and by the time the young lady reached the pottery she was so cold she soon became unconscious.

She was assisted to a restaurant nearby, where friends worked with her for several hours before she revived sufficiently to be taken to her home.

ANOTHER POLLING PLACE

Is Wanted for the Accommodation of Some of the Fifth Ward Voters.

Not a few complaints are heard in the Fifth ward now about the polling places. Since the First ward was divided and the Fifth created, the polling place has always been at the East End fire station on Virginia avenue. In some instances the vote at this place has been very light compared to what it would have been had there been a polling place in the eastern part of the ward.

Well known Republicans of this ward are anxious that a full vote shall be polled at the primaries, and only wish arrangements could be made by the central committee to have an additional polling place located at Dry Run, or near the Neville institute.

THE PRIZE POSSUM

Big Fat Fellow Caught By David Lange Near Andrews' Ice House.

To David Lange belongs the honor of trapping the prize 'possum of the season. Lange was working near the Andrews' ice house yesterday about noon when he saw something running near the pond. He soon discovered it was a 'possum and succeeded in catching it.

Taking it to his home he weighed it and found it to tip the scales at 21 pounds.

Big Wedding Tomorrow.

One of the largest weddings ever held in Toronto will take place tomorrow when Miss Maude McCausland, of Toronto, and J. W. Reitzke, of the East End, will be married at the residence of the bride's parents by Rev. Mr. McVaine, of Toronto. A large number of invitations have been issued and after a short wedding trip the young couple will return to the East End, where they will make their future home.

Gas Pressure Caused Fire.

A small fire occurred in the new residence owned by James Elliott, on First avenue, Sunday evening and occupied by H. H. C. Hammerton. During the evening the gas was turned down near the stove instead of at the connection, back of the stove, and the pressure of gas burst the small gum hose, igniting the gas. A portion of the floor and wall was burned. The fire department was not called.

U. P. Church Services.

The prayer meeting service at the Second U. P. church tomorrow evening will be under the direction of John White. Immediately after this service a congregational meeting will be held, when action will be taken upon the recent resignation of Rev. J. R. Greene.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

Rev. N. M. Crowe was in Vanport last evening attending a wedding. East End Tribe of Ben Hur held its bi-monthly meeting last evening. The meeting was largely attended and considerable important business was transacted.

The household effects of Rev. J. R. Greene will likely be shipped to Sharon tomorrow. Rev. Mr. Greene expects to leave Thursday for Sharon, and next Sunday will preach his first sermon there.

At a meeting of Eureka circle, P. H. C., to be held this evening, 15 new members will be initiated and action taken upon five new applications. The membership of the circle has been increasing quite rapidly of late.

AGAINST THE TRUSTS

Sheet Steel Company and Tin Plate Company Accused of Violating the Laws of Ohio.

Columbus, Feb. 4.—(Special)—The American Sheet Steel company and the American Tin Plate company have filed general demurrers to the suits filed against them by Attorney-General Sheets, to enforce the collection of penalties amounting to $23,000 for alleged violation of the law requiring foreign corporations to make annual reports to the secretary of the state and pay a certain per centage of the amount of their capital stock to the state.

Both companies are charged with violating the law for a period of 14 months. A penalty of $1,000 may be imposed for non-compliance of the law, and an additional $1,000 may be added for each month that the violation exists.

Washington, Feb. 4.—Senator Hoar, from the committee on the judiciary, yesterday reported favorably the bill to limit the meaning of the word "conspiracy" and the use of "restraining orders and injunctions" in certain cases. The bill provides that a combination to do an act or not to do it shall not be punished more severely than the act itself, and that combinations of this character between employers and employees engaged in interstate commerce shall not be considered in restraint of trade or commerce. The bill is intended to aid in adjusting labor disputes on railroads.

FAVORABLE REPORT ON WAR TAX REDUCTION.

Washington, Feb. 4.—The ways and means committee of the house, by unanimous vote, yesterday ordered a favorable report on the war tax reduction bill. A surprise occurred when Representative Babcock, Republican member, offered his bill largely reducing duties on the steel schedule and placing some articles on the free list, as an amendment to the tea repeal section. The amendment was defeated 6 to 7. Messrs. Babcock and Tawney and all the Democrats voting in the affirmative.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

AMERICA IS NEEDED,
Gov. Taft Says the Filipinos
Could Not Alone Govern Themselves.
OUR KNOWLEDGE IS NECESSARY.
Described the Condition of the Island
of Samar—Entered Upon a General
Narrative of the Work of the Commission.

Washington, Feb. 4.—Governor Taft yesterday continued his statement before the senate committee on the Philippines regarding the conditions existing in those islands.

Answering a question by Mr. Lodge, he described the condition of the island of Samar, where the people are still in insurrection, and said he was not prepared to state that this island was never wholly subjected to Spanish rule. He then described the qualifications requisite for an election in the different towns where the commission had established governments. These were that such person shall speak and write English or speak and write Spanish, or have filled a municipal office under Spanish rule, or that he shall pay $15 gold taxes a year.

General Taft then entered upon a general narrative of the work of the commission. When the commission arrived at Manila they found the people divided into three classes, those in favor of the exclusion of American sovereignty altogether, the Spanish party in favor of this government and a large body of ignorant people who were entirely indifferent.

He could assert without hesitation, he said, that lacking American initiative and American knowledge of how to carry on a government, any government there must be a complete failure.

In explanation of the obstacles to the complete tranquility of the islands, with the exception of Samar, Batangas and Laguna, he said that the lack of quarters for the troops, which was the cause of their being brought into close contact with the people, was the principal one, and he urged that such quarters be provided.

Governor Taft declared that the chief aim of the commission was the good of the Filipino people, and that they had constantly endeavored to gain their confidence. In this they had been successful, the people believing they will be given the best government possible and be secure in the enjoyment of their rights. He sought to prove the susceptibility of the Filipinos to kindness by the results achieved by the commission. It was not hard, he said, to explain the attitude of the Filipinos toward the army, because they could not be expected to love the instrument by which punishment is inflicted on them.

Governor Taft discussed at some length the different parties which had been formed in the Philippines. The federal party, he said, was the one which represented peace and influence.

The committee adjourned until to-day, when Governor Taft will continue his statement.

Spirited Debate In Senate.
Washington, Feb. 4.—Another spirited debate, with the Philippine tariff bill as the text, was precipitated in the senate yesterday as the result of some statements made by Mr. Carmack (Dem., Tenn.) in the course of an extended speech on the general Philippine question. It was the Tennessee senator's first speech in the senate and he was given notably good attention on both sides of the chamber. He spoke without manuscript, with earnestness, force and eloquence.

The Decay of Sentiment

By Bishop HENRY C. POTTER

THERE never was a day as hostile to sentiment as the day in which we live. THE TENDENCY IN OUR DAY IS TO ORGANIZATION, INSOLENT AND OVERWHELMING, THE ORGANIZATION OF LABOR AND CAPITAL AND OF RELIGION. Organization is fatal to sentiment. It has no place for emotion. It discards the person of Christ. The touch of the hand and that of the heart are needed by the heathen groping in darkness and by the people in our own land struggling toward the light.

At the conclusion of his address, which had been listened to by many of his former colleagues in the house of representatives, Mr. Beveridge (Ind.) challenged some of his statements. The debate which ensued was very lively for a few minutes, taking on a political phase, which proved particularly interesting to the auditors who crowded the floor as well as the galleries. Mr. Beveridge and Mr. Tillman (S. C.) became involved in a heated colloquy, in which the exchanges were as hot as both senators well could make them.

Prior to the taking up of the Philippine bill the measure providing for an increase in the salaries of United States judges was under discussion for an hour. In the course of the debate the case of Judge Arthur H. Noyes, of the district court of Alaska, was drawn upon to show why some judges should not be given the increase.

Babcock Caused Consternation.

Washington, Feb. 4.—There was consternation among the Republican members of the ways and means committee when Representative Babcock unexpectedly moved that his bill reducing the tariff in iron and steel products be made part of the war revenue repeal measure, and in that form reported to the house, with a recommendation that it pass.

Two Republican and two Democratic members of the committee were absent from the meeting, and when Mr. Babcock made his motion Chairman Payne did not know whether or not he could muster enough votes to defeat it. There was intense excitement in the committee for a few moments.

The chairman realized that a favorable report on the Babcock bill would involve the opening up of the whole subject of tariff revision in the house, with results one could forecast. More than this, it would be a defeat and humiliation for the managers. It nearly passed, but was finally defeated.

Oleomargarine Debate In House.

Washington, Feb. 4.—The house devoted yesterday to general debate on the oleomargarine bill. The opponents of the measure attempted to filibuster against it at the opening of the session, but were beaten by more than a two-thirds vote. The speakers were Messrs. Henry (Conn.), Haskins (Vt.) and Graft (Ills.), in favor of the measure, and Messrs. Wadsworth (N. Y.), Foster (Ills.), Burleson (Texas) and Clayton (Ala.), in opposition to it. Those who antagonized the bill favored the adoption of the substitute, which is designed to prevent the fraudulent sale of oleomargarine under the guise of butter.

Enough Money For Coronation Trip.

Washington, Feb. 4.—In response to inquiries the state department notified the senate committee on appropriations that the department would be able to make provision for the expenses of the representatives of this country in England incident to the coronation of King Edward VII from its own resources, and that, therefore, no especial appropriation would be necessary for that purpose. The committee therefore did not make provision in the urgent deficiency bill which was reported to the senate for this item of expense, as it had agreed on Saturday last to do.

The committee also decided that the provision in the bill as it came from the house for $40,000 to be used by the president in meeting "unforeseen emergencies" would be sufficient to cover the expense of the government in connection with the approaching visit of Prince Henry, and no specific appropriation was made on that account.

War Tax Reports Filed.

Washington, Feb. 4.—Both majority and minority reports were filed on the war revenue repeal bill. The majority report says the probability of early withdrawal of troops from Cuba and the reduction of the force in the Philippines will make further reductions possible, and also reviews the condition of the treasury.

The minority report approves the proposed reductions, but asserts they should have been made long ago. It also advocates a general revision of taxes on accumulated wealth. There is a general denunciation of the Dingley law as the mother of trusts, and the report says that it enables manufacturers to charge far greater prices to home consumers than are received abroad for the same goods, which is characterized as "plain robbery."

ADDED SAFEGUARDS NEEDED.

So a Chinese Service Inspector Testified Before Committee.

Washington, Feb. 4.—J. R. Dunn, of the Chinese inspection service, stationed at San Francisco, was before the house committee on foreign affairs, explaining the difficulties encountered under the present exclusion law and the need of added safeguards such as are provided in the Mitchell-Kahn bill. Mr. Dunn also answered some of the criticisms made of alleged harsh treatment of the Chinese during their detention. He said the steamship companies provided detention houses at San Francisco, Port Townsend and other points, which were cleaner and better than the ordinary Chinese quarters.

Andrew Furness also continued his statement showing the favorable attitude of labor organizations toward the Mitchell-Kahn bill.

Will Take Up Temperance Work.

London, Feb. 4.—At a mass meeting held in Exeter hall last night General Booth, the leader of the Salvation Army, inaugurated a special temperance campaign as a feature of the work of the army during the present year. General Booth said he relied confidently upon the co-operation of saloonkeepers in this work, through their indicating the habitual drunkards, inasmuch as the supplying of habitual drunkards with liquor endangered the publican's license, and that he intended to compile a drunkards' directory in each town and follow the habitual drunkards home and reform them there.

Appreciated by German Officials.

Washington, Feb. 4.—German embassy officials gave expression last night to the deep sense of appreciation they felt, which would be shared by Prince Henry on his arrival, at the large number of invitations extended to him to visit cities in many parts of the country and to accept the courtesies of numerous organizations. While the German officials are highly gratified at these many spontaneous evidences of good will, they regret that the brief stay of his royal highness in this country makes it imperative to restrict the program within certain definite limits heretofore announced, thus rendering it impossible to accept quite a number of the invitations which have been received.

RATHER HOPEFUL SPIRIT SHOWN

By Professionals Among Stock Operators In the Market on Monday.

New York, Feb. 4.—The professional element among the stock operators showed a rather hopeful spirit Monday morning and started with some confidence to buy the transcontinental railroad stocks. The movement seemed to be based upon an assumption that the supreme court would hand down its decision Monday in the Northern Securities case, for within half an hour after the time for the sitting of the court the morning's gain in these stocks had been wiped out. The dealings in Southern Pacific were especially large and gave evidence of operations by a speculative pool. The buying of the stock is ostensibly based upon the expectation of an early refunding of large issues of bonds bearing a high rate of interest and which mature in the next few years. The financial district was flooded with very optimistic estimates of the current earnings of the road. The price was carried at one time 1 1/2 over Saturday, but it fared little better than the other Pacifics in the reactionary movement and closed with a net gain of 3/4. There were very heavy dealings also in St. Paul and Union Pacific, but their gains were entirely wiped out. Efforts were made to revive the market by inaugurating a movement in the coalers. Lackawanna spurted 1 1/4, very little stock coming out. Rumors were revived that the company's stock is to be doubled, with valuable rights to present holders. The dealings in Amalgamated Copper were on an enormous scale, the number of shares sold being about the largest for a single day in the history of the stock. It was under pressure throughout, with occasional rallies, and late in the day fell more than 3 points under Saturday, closing with a net loss of 2 1/2. Profit taking was an important element in the weakness of the stock, but there was a disposition to discredit recent rumors of a combination with other copper producers. The weakness of this stock did not affect the early rise in the transcontinentals, but its depressing influence gained force later in the day. The favorable statement of net earnings for December was responsible for strength in the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie stocks, the common rising 2 1/2 and the preferred 3 1/4, with final reactions of about a point.

Railroad bonds were moderately active and irregular. Total sales, par value, $4,245,000.

United States bonds were all unchanged on the last call.

This you will do by selecting the Denver & Rio Grande and Rio Grande Western, "The Scenic Line of the World," and "The Great Salt Lake Route," in one or both directions, as this line has two separate routes across the Rocky mountains between Denver and Ogden. Tickets reading via this route are available either via its main line through the Royal George, Leadville, over Tennessee Pass, through the Canon of the Grand river and Glenwood Springs, or via the line over Marshall Pass and through the Black Canon of the Gunnison, thus enabling the traveler to use one of the above routes going and the other returning. Three splendidly equipped fast trains are operated to and from the Pacific coast, which carry through standard sleepers daily between Chicago, St. Louis, Denver and San Francisco. Dining cars (service a la carte) on all through trains. If you contemplate such a trip, let us send you beautifully illustrated pamphlets, free. S. K. Hocper, G. P. & T. A., Denver, Col. 7-11-3-11

RATHER HOPEFUL SPIRIT SHOWN

By Professionals Among Stock Operators In the Market on Monday.

New York, Feb. 4.—The professional element among the stock operators showed a rather hopeful spirit Monday morning and started with some confidence to buy the transcontinental railroad stocks. The movement seemed to be based upon an assumption that the supreme court would hand down its decision Monday in the Northern Securities case, for within half an hour after the time for the sitting of the court the morning's gain in these stocks had been wiped out. The dealings in Southern Pacific were especially large and gave evidence of operations by a speculative pool. The buying of the stock is ostensibly based upon the expectation of an early refunding of large issues of bonds bearing a high rate of interest and which mature in the next few years. The financial district was flooded with very optimistic estimates of the current earnings of the road. The price was carried at one time 1½ over Saturday, but it fared little better than the other Pacifics in the reactionary movement and closed with a net gain of ¾. There were very heavy dealings also in St. Paul and Union Pacific, but their gains were entirely wiped out. Efforts were made to revive the market by inaugurating a movement in the coalters. Lackawanna spurted 14½, very little stock coming out. Rumors were revived that the company's stock is to be doubled, with valuable rights to present holders. The dealings in Amalgamated Copper were on an enormous scale, the number of shares sold being about the largest for a single day in the history of the stock. It was under pressure throughout, with occasional rallies, and late in the day fell more than 3 points under Saturday, closing with a net loss of 2½. Profit taking was an important element in the weakness of the stock, but there was a disposition to discredit recent rumors of a combination with other copper producers. The weakness of this stock did not affect the early rise in the transcontinentals, but its depressing influence gained force later in the day. The favorable statement of net earnings for December was responsible for strength in the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie stocks, the common rising 2½ and the preferred ¾, with final reactions of about a point.

United States bonds were all unchanged on the last call.

The News Review today presents its readers outline cuts, giving a very good idea of what the East Liverpool hospital will look like when completed. The Hospital association has encountered and overcome many obstacles that would have discouraged a less energetic body, and is still pegging away with grim determination that augurs complete success. Now is a good time for all who expect to help the institution to come forward and show what they propose to do. The association has money to start the work of building, but the early completion of that work and putting the institution in operation will depend upon the interest shown in the matter by the citizens of East Liverpool. For the credit of the city, the enterprise should receive substantial encouragement at every stage of its progress.

The will of the late John Moses was probated at Trenton Saturday. All of Mr. Moses' real and personal property was left to Mrs. Moses, excepting six bequests of $1,000 each, to six special legatees. Besides Mr. Moses' real property he left a $50,000 insurance policy which has been paid in full. There was another insurance policy of $50,000 which became due two years ago and was paid at that time.

General Grosvenor said in congress the other day that if Cuba were starving he would be willing to vote her $25,000,000. But Cuba is not starving, and should not be an object of charity. America has dealt liberally with Cuba, and will continue to do so. But there must be a limit even to our national generosity to the infant republic.

The senate had nearly a two-thirds majority against the proposition to increase the salaries of United States senators and representatives to $7,500 a year. There may be some congressmen whose services are worth that sum, but we notice that they are not among those who would like to be salary grabbers.

The move for increased salaries by state employees is not likely to be encouraged by the legislature. Nobody is compelled to hold a state job if he does not like the pay, and up to date there has been no difficulty in finding enough men for the places. Quite the contrary; there is always a surplus.

Complete peace in the Philippines is predicted by General Chaffee in a short time. It would have come sooner but for the noise made by American "antis," who, while professing to be the friends of the Filipinos, deluded them into resisting the government.

A Virginia jury has fixed the value of 200 sermons, which a minister lost on a railroad train, at $125 each. The value was estimated by a committee of clergymen, but it does not fix the value of all sermons.

The only kind of war that meets with Tillman's approval is a war of words. In conducting that sort of fighting he would soon rank as a major general save that he never wins a battle.

There will be balloon races worth seeing at the St. Louis exposition. A prize of $200,000 is to be offered, and Santos Dumont is to be there with a new airship.

There is one excellent thing about the snow. It temporarily puts the dirt in the streets out of sight.

What! an anti-trust movement in Germany? Must be some mistake about it. Haven't we heard a hundred times that there are no trusts save where Republican protection flourishes?

It will take more than Prince Henry's visit to promote American friendship for the German government, as long as the latter persists in hostile legislation against American products.

The month of January was productive of the greatest number of orders ever received by Trenton potteries in their history. The increase is fully 15 per cent over last January.

When Miss Stone is finally set free, she will have to make several public appearances to prove it.

James Petrie.

James Petrie, whose death was reported yesterday, was 78 years of age and single. He lived in Pittsburgh until about two years ago, when he came to the home of Mrs. Myler, in St. Clair township. He was a painter by trade and a veteran of the civil war. Mr. Petrie was a prominent Mason and a Knight Templar. He was a member of Post 3, G. A. R., in Pittsburgh, a member of Pittsburgh commandery No. 1, K. T., of Zerubbabel chapter, and Witner lodge, F. and A. M., also of Angerona lodge I. O. O. F., and an original member of the Duquesne Greys. He was also a member of the voluntary fire department of Pittsburgh and served on the first building committee to erect the first fire engine house in Pittsburgh. The Masons are to conduct the funeral.

George C. Surles.

George C. Surles, a brother of Postmaster W. H. Surles, of this city, died yesterday afternoon at his home in Beaver Falls. He was a contractor and prominent citizen of Beaver Falls. Mr. Surles was born in Steubenville in 1833 and had resided in Beaver Falls since 1872. He is survived by his wife and four sons, Basil, of Beaver Falls; Harry, of Sewickley; William F., of Indian Territory and Samuel, of Pittsburgh. He was a member of the Presbyterian church, the Odd Fellows and the Jr. O. U. A. M. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 3.

Postmaster Surles is the only surviving brother of the deceased. He arrived yesterday at the home of his brother just before the latter died.

Mrs. Kate Jones.

Mrs. Kate Jones, mother of Harry E. Jones, the well known traveling man, died at her home, 527 North McKinley avenue, Canton, last night. Mrs. Jones had been suffering with anemia for more than a year and her death was unexpected. Besides Harry E., one daughter, Miss Florence, is left to mourn her death.

HINDRANCES TO TRUE LIFE

Subject Ably Handled By Rev. W. E. Biederwolf—Excellent Music.

A large congregation was present last evening at the First Presbyterian church to hear Rev. W. E. Biederwolf and the musical director, Prof. Maxwell. Prof. Maxwell rendered with great effect "The Holy City."

Mr. Biederwolf's theme was "Hindrances," based on the text Luke 11: 52, "And them that were entering in, ye hindered." The sermon was heart-searching. He spoke of infidelity being a hindrance to many entering the kingdom. He showed the great evil the man is doing who tries to destroy the only hope which has been given for the salvation of the human soul, and not having something as good or better to substitute for it.

The speaker also told how Christians may be a hindrance to those entering the kingdom, (1) by their silence when a word had better been spoken, (2) by mistakes of the Christian, (3) by conformity to the world. Doubtless many Christians resolved they would remove everything from their lives which would be a hindrance to those who would enter the kingdom.

The woman's prayer service began today at 2 p. m. and was followed by the general service, led by Rev. Mr. Biederwolf and Prof. Maxwell at 2:30 o'clock.

Girl Student Committed Suicide.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 4.—Miss Agnes Inglis, a sophomore student in the medical department of the University of Michigan, committed suicide here. She is a daughter of Dr. David Inglis, a prominent physician of Detroit. The young woman was an unusually bright and promising student, and had already made a name for herself among her professors. She was prominent in athletics, being coach of the freshmen basket ball team, and taking great interest in gymnasium work. No motive for the deed has been discovered, but it is known that she was subject to attacks of great mental depression.

It pays to advertise in the Evening News Review.

POTTERY NEWS

Carpenters are authority for the announcement that other extensive improvements will be made to the Laughlin pottery as soon as the No. 3 plant is completed. Although the question has frequently been asked when the present contract was expected to be completed, no one has ventured an answer. Even now the original plans for No. 3 have been changed, so far as the warehouse is concerned. In the original drawing it was the intention to make the warehouse two stories but the company decided it would be better to have this part of the plant three stories, and the change was ordered. Rumor is now current that even a fourth story is considered. It would not be surprising to see, before the summer is over, another large addition under course of construction, to the number 3 addition.

The next meeting of warehouse women's local No. 7606, Federation of Labor, which will be held Thursday evening in the K. O. T. M. hall on Washington street, gives promise of being the most important held in months. On this occasion the officers elected to weeks ago will be installed, and at the same time the local will be admitted to membership in the N. B. of O. P. This will be an important event in the history of this local. Many new members are expected to be received into the local at this session, as it has been proposed to increase the initiation fee at once. This local will likely be the first to receive one of the new charters, just received by Secretary Duffy.

It was decided by the handmakers' apprentices Saturday evening to become affiliated with the N. B. of O. P. and arrangements with that end in view are being formulated. Those who propose to become members of the new local are contributing funds at each meeting, to be used to obtain a charter, about $21 being required. It is said the desire of the apprentices is to have representation at the next annual convention of the Brotherhood.

T. C. Cook, of the Cook & Lawrence Crockery company, Racine, Wis., was in the city yesterday placing orders.

Being rushed with orders for decorated ware the Laughlin Pottery company at their No. 2 plant had many decorators working very late last night. This will continue until the rush is over. Several printers were unable to work here yesterday on account of the shortage of gas.

The annual banquet of the crockery jobbers of the United States was held at New York last night. The affair was a most elaborate one and was attended by two persons identified with the pottery industry from this city. They were Benjamin Harker and Charles Aarons, of the Laughlin company.

The many friends of Walter Bettridge, of Walnut street, a dipper at the Smith & McNicol pottery at Wells-ville, will be sorry to hear of his serious illness. He is suffering from an attack of lead colic and neuralgia of the stomach. His condition is considered critical.

While all departments of the Globe pottery are running, the firm is not rushing matters much. Very little stock is on hand at this plant, and with the exception of last Wednesday the plant has been in steady operation since the first of the year.

A local of the employees of the Thomas pottery at Lisbon will be formed soon. Transfer cards for these workmen are being issued from their former organizations and it is thought the local will be formed within two weeks.

Oliver Barker, a kilndrawer at the D. E. McNicol pottery, who was married Sunday evening, was seriously injured this morning. He was drawing kiln, when a sagger fell on his head, inflicting a deep cut, requiring three stitches.

The National pottery resumed operations in full yesterday. The plant was compelled to shut down partially

Saturday on account of two tubes in the larger boiler leaking. The necessary repairs were made Saturday.

Richard Salt, a native of England, who has been employed at the National, received news last week of the death of his wife in England. He came here a few months ago and was about to send for his wife.

Harry Stoddard will take the management of the mold shop in the Laughlin No. 3 plant. Mr. Stoddard will be succeeded at Laughlin No. 1 by Harry Jackson, who is now employed at No. 2.

The East Liverpool Potteries company will soon place a 154-piece dinner set on the market. The company will dispense with the "Progress" shape, one of its most successful designs.

Ben Toland, of the Golding flint mill, is off duty on account of an injury sustained a few days ago. He was handling coal when a heavy lump fell on his foot, mashing a toe.

At a meeting of turners' and hand-lers' local No. 10 last evening a committee was appointed to prepare a program for a smoker to be given in three weeks.

Three warehousemen at the Laughlin plant have resigned. One of the number will enter an eastern business college within the next few weeks.

President Hughes went to East Palestine today, where he will address a meeting of No. 31 this evening. He will return tomorrow.

President George C. Murphy, of the East Liverpool Potteries company, left yesterday afternoon for a business trip through the east.

W. A. Young, a buyer from Portland, Me., was in the city yesterday, placing business with the Goodwin Pottery company.

Jiggermen's local No. 12 will meet this evening. Some important business is to be considered.

John McClure, a printer, formerly employed at the Klondike, has taken a position at the Globe.

Carpenters are making new benches for the decorating department of the Laughlin pottery No. 2.

Charles McPherson, formerly kilnman at the Standard, has gone to Thompson's.

The Laughlin company shipped a car load of decorated ware to El Paso Tex., today.

The National Pottery company is rushed with orders for decorated ware.

FRIENDS AND VISITORS

Harry Farr is visiting relatives in Allegheny.

Mrs. Sarah Kohl, of Cleveland, is the guest of Sixth street relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. John Horwell were summoned to Pittsburgh yesterday on account of the death of a nephew.

Miss Mame Scott, who has been the guest of Miss Martha Porter, of Thompson Hill, returned to her home in Cambridge yesterday.

Miss Mary Lamond, of Washington, D. C., who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Mary Crawford, left today for other points in Ohio, where she will visit before returning home.

William Howard, who has been working in this city for several months, received word Sunday of the serious illness of his mother at Buffalo. He left for that place immediately.

HINDRANCES TO TRUE LIFE

Subject Aably Handled By Rev. W. E. Biederwolf—Excellent Music.

A large congregation was present last evening at the First Presbyterian church to hear Rev. W. E. Biederwolf and the musical director, Prof. Maxwell. Prof. Maxwell rendered with great effect "The Holy City."

Mr. Biederwolf's theme was "Hindrances," based on the text Luke 11: 52, "And them that were entering in, ye hindered." The sermon was heart-searching. He spoke of infidelity being a hindrance to many entering the kingdom. He showed the great evil the man is doing who tries to destroy the only hope which has been given for the salvation of the human soul, and not having something as good or better to substitute for it.

The speaker also told how Christians may be a hindrance to those entering the kingdom, (1) by their silence when a word had better been spoken, (2) by mistakes of the Christian, (3) by conformity to the world. Doubtless many Christians resolved they would remove everything from their lives which would be a hindrance to those who would enter the kingdom.

The woman's prayer service began today at 2 p. m. and was followed by the general service, led by Rev. Mr. Biederwolf and Prof. Maxwell at 2:30 o'clock.

Girl Student Committed Suicide.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 4.—Miss Agnes Inglis, a sophomore student in the medical department of the University of Michigan, committed suicide here. She is a daughter of Dr. David Inglis, a prominent physician of Detroit. The young woman was an unusually bright and promising student, and had already made a name for herself among her professors. She was prominent in athletics, being coach of the freshmen basket ball team, and taking great interest in gymnasium work. No motive for the deed has been discovered, but it is known that she was subject to attacks of great mental depression.

Carpenters are authority for the announcement that other extensive improvements will be made to the Laughlin pottery as soon as the No. 3 plant is completed. Although the question has frequently been asked when the present contract was expected to be completed, no one has ventured an answer. Even now the original plans for No. 3 have been changed, so far as the warehouse is concerned. In the original drawing it was the intention to make the warehouse two stories, but the company decided it would be better to have this part of the plant three stories, and the change was ordered. Rumor is now current that even a fourth story is considered. It would not be surprising to see, before the summer is over, another large addition under course of construction, to the number 3 addition.

The next meeting of warehouse women's local No. 7606, Federation of Labor, which will be held Thursday evening in the K. O. T. M. hall on Washington street, gives promise of being the most important held in months. On this occasion the officers elected to weeks ago will be installed, and at the same time the local will be admitted to membership in the N. B. of O. P. This will be an important event in the history of this local. Many new members are expected to be received into the local at this session, as it has been proposed to increase the initiation fee at once. This local will likely be the first to receive one of the new charters, just received by Secretary Duffy.

It was decided by the handymen's apprentices Saturday evening to become affiliated with the N. B. of O. P. and arrangements with that end in view are being formulated. Those who propose to become members of the new local are contributing funds at each meeting, to be used to obtain a charter, about $21 being required. It is said the desire of the apprentices is to have representation at the next annual convention of the Brotherhood.

T. C. Cook, of the Cook & Lawrence Crockery company, Racine, Wis., was in the city yesterday placing orders.

Being rushed with orders for decorated ware the Laughlin Pottery company at their No. 2 plant had many decorators working very late last night. This will continue until the rush is over. Several printers were unable to work here yesterday on account of the shortage of gas.

The annual banquet of the crockery jobbers of the United States was held at New York last night. The affair was a most elaborate one and was attended by two persons identified with the pottery industry from this city. They were Benjamin Harker and Charles Aarons, of the Laughlin company.

The many friends of Walter Bettridge, of Walnut street, a dipper at the Smith & McNicol pottery at Wells-ville, will be sorry to hear of his serious illness. He is suffering from an attack of lead colic and neuralgia of the stomach. His condition is considered critical.

While all departments of the Globe pottery are running, the firm is not rushing matters much. Very little stock is on hand at this plant, and with the exception of last Wednesday the plant has been in steady operation since the first of the year.

A local of the employees of the Thomas pottery at Lisbon will be formed soon. Transfer cards for these workmen are being issued from their former organizations and it is thought the local will be formed within two weeks.

Oliver Barker, a kilndrawer at the D. E. McNicol pottery, who was married Sunday evening, was seriously injured this morning. He was drawing kiln, when a sagger fell on his head, inflicting a deep cut, requiring three stitches.

The National pottery resumed operations in full yesterday. The plant was compelled to shut down partially

Saturday on account of two tubes in the larger boiler leaking. The necessary repairs were made Saturday.

Richard Salt, a native of England, who has been employed at the National, received news last week of the death of his wife in England. He came here a few months ago and was about to send for his wife.

Harry Stoddard will take the management of the mold shop in the Laughlin No. 3 plant. Mr. Stoddard will be succeeded at Laughlin No. 1 by Harry Jackson, who is now employed at No. 2.

The East Liverpool Potteries company will soon place a 154-piece dinner set on the market. The company will dispense with the "Progress" shape, one of its most successful designs.

Ben Toland, of the Golding flint mill, is off duty on account of an injury sustained a few days ago. He was handling coal when a heavy lump fell on his foot, mashing a toe.

At a meeting of turners' and handymen's local No. 10 last evening a committee was appointed to prepare a program for a smoker to be given in three weeks.

Three warehousemen at the Laughlin plant have resigned. One of the number will enter an eastern business college within the next few weeks.

President Hughes went to East Palestine today, where he will address a meeting of No. 31 this evening. He will return tomorrow.

Wellsville Council Passes Resolutions For Two Quite Extensive Improvements.

RAILROAD CALLED TO TIME

Because of Acts That Do Not Suit Council—Crossings to Be Kept Clear—Gas Company Also Incurs the Displeasure of the Solons.

Numerous resolutions were passed by the Wellsville council at the meeting last evening. As a result two more streets will be extensively improved and the city will be indebted to the Silver Banking company for $10,000, which money is to be used in payment for the paving of Maple alley, Liverpool street and Fourth street.

Water street from Third to Ninth street will be paved and otherwise improved, but a part of the expense will fall to the lot of the C. & P. Railroad company. The street is 60 feet wide and only 26 feet of it will be paved by the city. The asphalt paving will be used. It is understood that the railroad company has agreed to plant a row of trees along this street and transform its part into a beautiful lawn.

A petition from residents on Highland avenue, asking that that thoroughfare be paved, was readily accepted by council and the city engineer was ordered to at once make the plans and specifications for the work.

A. J. Brennan, chairman of a committee appointed at the last meeting to confer with the Ft. Pitt Gas company in regard to furnishing the city a specified amount of gas free of charge, submitted a communication from the company. From it council learned that the only way the city building will ever be heated and lighted by gas will be for the city to pay for it at nearly the same rate charged individual citizens. Council was not pleased, and the committee was ordered continued empowered to employ all necessary help in finding the exact condition of the franchise under which the company is governed. It is thought that steps may be taken to have the franchise revoked if the request is not granted.

A communication from Judge P. M. Smith stated that he would be compelled to give up the proposed laying of a railroad track from the depot down to the West End potteries, owing to certain demands of the C. & P. company. The proposed track would prove very beneficial to Wellsville.

Council did not like the stand taken by the railroad and ordered that the police be instructed to keep the crossing at Eighteenth street clear at all times. This will cause the company much inconvenience. The company will also be ordered to open a crossing at Twenty-first street.

The Holliday heirs, through their attorney, Judge Smith, notified council that they will accept $300 for the damage done their property on Third street due to the change in the street grade. No action was taken.

Messrs. A. R. and E. H. Wells, who intend to erect six new dwelling houses on Liverpool street, near the steel mill, presented a petition to council stating that it will be impossible for them to erect the houses until a grade is set for the street and sidewalk. Engineer Leith was instructed to set the grades and the grades and the street commissioner was ordered to make the necessary filling.

J. T. French, chairman of the Columbiana county commissioners, in a communication, stated the commissioners will meet council in conference in regard to raising the Lisbon bridge.

Mr. Donaldson stated that the residents of the West End are very desirous of having two lights placed near the brick yards. Council seemed to think that the street railway company will be compelled to place the lights when the road is extended and action was deferred.

Rinehart Bros., of East Liverpool, were awarded the contract for paving Liverpool street. They agree to have the work completed by June 1. E. A. Freshwater, of Penrith, W. Va., was the lowest bidder for the paving of Maple alley, but was not awarded the contract, owing to not promising to use Wellsville brick. He will be given a chance to make the promise.

The street committee was ordered to have a gas lamp erected at Eighteenth and Front streets.

Bills aggregating $1,500 were ordered paid and bills to the amount of $1,900 were held over. Mayor Dennis reported $116.80 as collections for fines imposed in January.

Mayor Dennis was requested by council to represent the city at the meeting of the League of Municipalities in Columbus this week and will attend.

Council adjourned to meet again tonight.

J. H. Bishop Succeeds Him As Master Mechanic at C. & P. Shops.

J. H. Bishop arrived yesterday from Ft. Wayne, Ind., and immediately assumed charge of the C. & P. shops in the capacity of master mechanic. He succeeded J. D. Harris, who resigned Saturday and who will leave tomorrow for Baltimore, to accept a similar but more profitable position with the B. & O.

Mr. Harris was the master mechanic in the C. & P. shops here for two years, coming to this city from Crestline. His many friends among the employees of the shops presented him with an elegant gold watch yesterday as a token of their high respect for him.

Charles Hall, assistant foreman of the machine department, was chosen to make the presentation speech and did so in an admirable manner.

Mr. Harris, upon accepting the gift, thanked his fellow laborers in a feeling way and expressed his regrets for being called upon to change his location.

BLAZE IN A STORE

A Serious Fire Averted By the Prompt Use of a Little Water.

There came near being a destructive fire in J. J. Dowling's dry goods store early last evening, the result of a red hot stove pipe coming in contact with the basement boards on the first floor. Luckily the clerks had not left the store and upon seeing the danger sent in a still alarm to central station.

Mr. Dowling and Fire Chief Lownds were at the station and promptly answered the call. By the application of a bucket of water the fire was extinguished and the loss entailed was very little.

He Escaped With Slight Injuries. Boiler Was Completely Wrecked.

A terrific boiler explosion occurred yesterday morning at the entrance of R. D. Stewart's coal bank near Hookstown. How Engineer James Laughlin escaped with his life is inexplicable. He was standing directly in front of the boiler and received the full force of the explosion about his head and breast. Although he was knocked backwards a distance of 200 feet he was not rendered unconscious, nor was he badly hurt, his face being but slightly scalded and his breast receiving minor bruises.

BODIES WERE ON EXHIBITION.

Harry Biddle Reluctantly Allowed the Morbid and Curious to View Them. Butler Officials Claim Reward. Pittsburg Officers Get Even.

Pittsburg, Feb. 4.—The bodies of the notorious and daring pair of burglars and murderers were buried today. They were brought to Pittsburg from Butler yesterday.

Before the bodies went to their last resting place the morbidly curious were given a chance to look upon them. From 9 o'clock until noon today they were on exhibition at the Beinhauer mortuary, South Side. This concession was made by their brother, Harry G. Biddle, with great reluctance, and at the request of many South Side people who visited the undertaking establishment after they were received there yesterday. Funeral services were held at the cathedral this morning and the interment later.

The unpleasantness between Pittsburg detectives and the Butler county officers who participated in the capture of the Biddles continued until the bodies were received at the county morgue, Eighth street, yesterday morning. The fear of the Butler officers that they would be cheated out of a share in the reward offered by the county commissioners inspired some of them to come to Pittsburg.

They refused to desert the bodies after they were taken from the train and one of them climbed upon the morgue wagon. From this position he was pulled by Pittsburgers, there-

Birds Are Like Human Beings.

Canaries, like human beings, vary very much in character, some cocks being so indifferent and idle that they will let the hen do all the work of building and rearing, while they themselves sit and plume their feathers. Others, again, are perfect gentlemen in their manners, waiting on the hen with a quiet courtesy and seeing that all she requires is at once brought to her. Again, the hens vary in disposition, some hens behaving in a quiet, modest way, attending to their young ones with regularity, while others are in a constant state of chatter with their husbands, pecking and arguing with them every time they go near. Thus we see that these little birds have their tiffs and domestic quarrels, not unlike ourselves.—Chambers' Journal.

Passing of a Star.

J. D. HARRIS RESIGNS

J. H. Bishop Succeeds Him As Master Mechanic at C. & P. Shops.

J. H. Bishop arrived yesterday from Ft. Wayne, Ind., and immediately assumed charge of the C. & P. shops in the capacity of master mechanic. He succeeded J. D. Harris, who resigned Saturday and who will leave tomorrow for Baltimore, to accept a similar but more profitable position with the B. & O.

Mr. Harris was the master mechanic in the C. & P. shops here for two years, coming to this city from Crestline. His many friends among the employes of the shops presented him, with an elegant gold watch yesterday as a token of their high respect for him.

Charles Hall, assistant foreman of the machine department, was chosen to make the presentation speech and did so in an admirable manner.

Mr. Harris, upon accepting the gift, thanked his fellow laborers in a feeling way and expressed his regrets for being called upon to change his location.

BLAZE IN A STORE

A Serious Fire Averted By the Prompt Use of a Little Water.

There came near being a destructive fire in J. J. Dowling's dry goods store early last evening, the result of a red hot stove pipe coming in contact with the basement boards on the first floor. Luckily the clerks had not left the store and upon seeing the danger sent in a still alarm to central station.

Mr. Dowling and Fire Chief Lownds were at the station and promptly answered the call. By the application of a bucket of water the fire was extinguished and the loss entailed was very little.

BOILER EXPLOSION

HURLED THE ENGINEER BACKWARD FOR 20 FEET.

He Escaped With Slight Injuries. Boiler Was Completely Wrecked.

A terrific boiler explosion occurred yesterday morning at the entrance of R. D. Stewart's coal bank near Hookstown. How Engineer James Laughlin escaped with his life is inexplicable. He was standing directly in front of the boiler and received the full force of the explosion about his head and breast. Although he was knocked backwards a distance of 200 feet he was not rendered unconscious, nor was he badly hurt, his face being but slightly scalded and his breast receiving minor bruises.

The boiler was completely wrecked. No plausible reason could be learned as to the origin of the accident.

FUNERAL OF BIDDLES.

Held at Cathedral, In Pittsburg Today, Interment Followed.

BODIES WERE ON EXHIBITION.

Harry Biddle Reluctantly Allowed the Morbid and Curious to View Them. Butler Officials Claim Reward. Pittsburg Officers Get Even.

Before the bodies went to their last resting place he morbidly curious were given a chance to look upon them. From 9 o'clock until noon today they were on exhibition at the Beinhauer mortuary, South Side. This concession was made by their brother, Harry G. Biddle, with great reluctance, and at the request of many South Side people who visited the undertaking establishment after they were received there yesterday. Funeral services were held at the cathedral this morning and the interment later.

The unpleasantness between Pittsburg detectives and the Butler county officers who participated in the capture of the Biddles continued until the bodies were received at the county morgue, Eighth street, yesterday morning. The fear of the Butler officers that they would be cheated out of a share in the reward offered by the county commissioners inspired some of them to come to Pittsburg.

They refused to desert the bodies after they were taken from the train and one of them climbed upon the morgue wagon. From this position he was pulled by Pittsburgers, there-

Following is the claim filed by the Butler officers:

Pittsburg Officers Got Even.

State of Pennsylvania, Butler county, ss.

Before the clerk of the court of quarter sessions of said county, personally came J. R. Hoon, Robert Ray, Frank Holliday and A. E. Thompson, who, being duly sworn according to law, do depose and say, that on Friday morning, Jan. 31, affiants started in pursuit of Edward and John Biddle, two prisoners who had escaped from the jail of Allegheny county, and who had passed through Butler borough at about 11 o'clock a. m., aforesaid day, traveling in an easterly direction.

That they, affiants, pursued said Biddles after they had turned in a westerly direction and followed them west on the Butler and Prospect road and at Prospect, said J. R. Hoon received a telephone message from Mt. Chestnut stating that the Biddle brothers had started from there on the Prospect road. That their affiants in one sled and three Pittsburg detectives with a driver in another sled then started back toward Mt. Chestnut and met the Biddles on the road about midway between Prospect and Mt. Chestnut.

Claimed All Exchanged Shots.

That affiants and the Pittsburg detectives all got out of the sleds and after an exchange of shots and a desperate resistance on the part of the Biddles they were shot down and captured; that J. R. Hoon was the first man to touch the prisoners and he put the handcuffs on Edward Biddle and the prisoners were then put in a sled and brought to other Butler jail.

Your affiants further state that they were not in the employ of the Pittsburg detectives, but were acting in the matter independently of them, and that J. R. Hoon is the deputy sheriff of Butler county, and that they did not see the detectives or know of them until they met at Prospect, a few minutes prior to the capture.

Your affiants believe they are entitled to a fair share of the five thou-

Birds Are Like Human Beings.
Canaries, like human beings, vary very much in character, some cocks being so indifferent and idle that they will let the hen do all the work of building and rearing, while they themselves sit and plume their feathers. Others, again, are perfect gentlemen in their manners, waiting for the hen with a quiet courtesy and seeing that all she requires is at once brought to her. Again, the hens vary in disposition, some hens behaving in a quiet, modest way, attending to their young ones with regularity, while others are in a constant state of chatter with their husbands, pecking and arguing with them every time they go near. Thus we see that these little birds have their tiffs and domestic quarrels, not unlike ourselves.—Chambers' Journal.

Passing of a Star.

"Madam," said the facetious boarder, "this turkey reminds me of a steadily vanishing dramatic star."
"Well," said the landlady, "I suppose you want somebody to ask you why."
"Because," said the facetious boarder, "it comes on in smaller and yet smaller parts."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"What can I do for you, doctor?" he asked in the tone of one who has ceased to expect good from any interview.

"Miss Miller, who is my patient at the hospital, wishes to see you," said Kendall, "and I called to ask you to come over."

"I hope a consultation isn't necessary," said Blair, with a faint smile. "I understood that her recovery was assured."

"It is in regard to Miss MacLane," responded Kendall, with considerable embarrassment.

Blair faintly groaned. "I wish I had kept my mouth shut," he said. "Of course if I can do anything to please Miss Miller," he added hastily, "I shall be delighted. I know her slightly, and she is a very charming girl. But really this matter of Miss MacLane is wearing my life out. Policemen, reporters, unidentified vagabonds—"

"And, last of all, a doctor," added Kendall.

"Have worried the flesh off my bones," continued Blair without noticing the interruption. "They insist that I shall identify Miss MacLane as the woman I saw. They offer all sorts of ridiculous plans for bringing Miss MacLane and me together so that I may be sure of her. But I have seen Miss MacLane already, and I have said all that I have to say upon the subject."

"You have not said that she was not the woman," suggested Kendall.

"No, and I won't," responded Blair promptly. "Why should I?"

"Unless you are sure," said Kendall, "you may feel like delaying a final statement, but I can't help thinking that your course takes little account of Miss MacLane's welfare; I might almost say of her rights. However, I must not get excited about it."

"You seem to take a considerable interest," said Blair. "You have known Miss MacLane for some years, I am told. But that is none of my business. What does Miss Miller wish me to do?"

"She believes that she can convince you that Miss MacLane is not the woman you saw," replied Kendall.

Blair was silent for some moments. "I don't see how that is possible," he said at last, "but I would be very glad to oblige her, or you, if I could. There is, however, such a thing as the truth, you know."

Kendall was beginning to feel painfully anxious. There seemed to be a strong probability that Blair was perfectly convinced in regard to this matter of identity and that he was reserving his statement until the nature of the case should disclose itself. If Elsie should die, there was little chance that a man of Blair's type would withhold his evidence, for in that event somebody would be directly accused, and a just person would feel that all the evidence should be brought forward. Blair's present position was such that Kendall did not know how to attack it, and so he fell back upon the matter of

Having received this promise, Kendall returned at once and notified Elsie of the approaching visit. Her manner was very significant. She was evidently bracing herself for a considerable ordeal. There could be no doubt that she had determined to save Brenda from the annoyance to which she was being subjected and from the much more serious trouble that might follow. As she had expressed a wish to speak with Dr. Blair a few minutes alone there could be but one inference—she intended to tell him something which she had withheld up to that time. As Blair was the first physician who had been called to attend her she could claim the right of a patient and put him upon his professional honor not to disclose what she might say. Indeed, certain questions which she asked made Kendall sure that she had considered this phase of the situation. It was possible that she might intend to go to the length of confiding to Blair the actual facts of the case, for by naming the author of the crime she could most surely relieve Brenda from any further suspicion. Even upon the supposition that Brenda had really gone to that house and had been seen by Blair he would probably consent to shield her from offensive publicity if he knew her to be entirely innocent.

Kendall was conscious of a strange, boyish feeling of discontent that Elsie should not have chosen him as the recipient of this confidence. He could understand that there might be reasons why she should tell Brenda everything, and, as to that, indeed, he had no positive knowledge that she had not already done so. Moreover, to have told him would have been merely to let another person into the secret, whatever it might be, since it was not he, but Blair, who had the power to check the attacks upon Brenda. Still, he could not help feeling isolated, the more because of his reflection that Brenda might already know all.

From this youthful frame of mind he passed to one more mature and practical. It might be that Blair was not worthy of this confidence. Without pretending to know what Elsie's secret might be, Kendall surely did not wish it to be betrayed. All consideration of abstract justice had vanished in personal interest. He was for Elsie with a genuine loyalty, and Blair had not impressed him favorably. He seemed a morose and discontented man, with an unsatisfied craving for something, probably money, and he had not a perfectly honest eye. Supposing that Elsie's secret involved Alden and that Alden had really become rich in a way invisible to his closest friends—well, in that case it might be that Dr. Blair would be able to afford a better office.

With these thoughts in mind Kendall ventured to caution Elsie against the evils incident to an unwise trust in the discretion and the promises of one's fellow creatures, but Elsie seemed to have an excellent opinion of her own good judgment, as often happens with the young.

When Blair appeared, Kendall mentioned to him that Elsie desired to see him alone for a few minutes, adding,

There could be no doubt that she had determined to save Brenda from the annoyance to which she was being subjected and from the much more serious trouble that might follow. As she had expressed a wish to speak with Dr. Blair a few minutes alone there could be but one inference—she intended to tell him something which she had withheld up to that time. As Blair was the first physician who had been called to attend her she could claim the right of a patient and put him upon his professional honor not to disclose what she might say. Indeed, certain questions which she asked made Kendall sure that she had considered this phase of the situation. It was possible that she might intend to go to the length of confiding to Blair the actual facts of the case, for by naming the author of the crime she could most surely relieve Brenda from any further suspicion. Even upon the supposition that Brenda had really gone to that house and had been seen by Blair he would probably consent to shield her from offensive publicity if he knew her to be entirely innocent.

Kendall was conscious of a strange, boyish feeling of discontent that Elsie should not have chosen him as the recipient of this confidence. He could understand that there might be reasons why she should tell Brenda everything, and, as to that, indeed, he had no positive knowledge that she had not already done so. Moreover, to have told him would have been merely to let another person into the secret, whatever it might be, since it was not he, but Blair, who had the power to check the attacks upon Brenda. Still, he could not help feeling isolated, the more because of his reflection that Brenda might already know all.

From this youthful frame of mind he passed to one more mature and practical. It might be that Blair was not worthy of this confidence. Without pretending to know what Elsie's secret might be, Kendall surely did not wish it to be betrayed. All consideration of abstract justice had vanished in personal interest. He was for Elsie with a genuine loyalty, and Blair had not impressed him favorably. He seemed a morose and discontented man, with an unsatisfied craving for something, probably money, and he had not a perfectly honest eye. Supposing that Elsie's secret involved Alden and that Alden had really become rich in a way invisible to his closest friends—well, in that case it might be that Dr. Blair would be able to afford a better office.

With these thoughts in mind Kendall ventured to caution Elsie against the evils incident to an unwise trust in the discretion and the promises of one's fellow creatures, but Elsie seemed to have an excellent opinion of her own good judgment, as often happens with the young.

When Blair appeared, Kendall mentioned to him that Elsie desired to see him alone for a few minutes, adding,

Kendall was beginning to feel painfully anxious. There seemed to be a strong probability that Blair was perfectly convinced in regard to this matter of identity and that he was reserving his statement until the nature of the case should disclose itself. If Elsie should die, there was little chance that a man of Blair's type would withhold his evidence, for in that event somebody would be directly accused, and a just person would feel that all the evidence should be brought forward. Blair's present position was such that Kendall did not know how to attack it, and so he fell back upon the matter of his real errand. As to that there was no difficulty. Blair promised to call at the hospital within an hour.

Having received this promise, Kendall returned at once and notified Elsie of the approaching visit. Her manner was very significant. She was evidently bracing herself for a considerable ordeal. Present Era of Prosperity Seems to Be Assured

By JAMES H. ECKELS, President of the Commercial National Bank of Chicago and Formerly Comptroller of the Currency

HE continuance of the present era of prosperity, it seems to me, is assured. I do not look for any recession, but, on the contrary, an advance toward still better general conditions and greater stability. The export trade of the country may be less in certain lines, but trade at home will show a better volume. The internal trade throughout the whole west was never more promising, the basis of it all being free from elements of speculation. I think that at no time have those engaged in commercial trade been so well equipped to liquidate, without either loss or hardship, their liabilities.

THE MOST ENCOURAGING FEATURE OF OUR INDUSTRIAL SITUATION IS THE RAPIDLY ADVANCING COMPLETENESS OF DETAIL IN ORGANIZATION, THE GROWING INTRODUCTION OF ECONOMIES IN MANAGEMENT, MANUFACTURE AND DISTRIBUTION AND THE MORE PERFECT COMMUNITY OF INTEREST BETWEEN THE GREAT INDUSTRIAL CORPORATIONS AND THE CORPORATIONS CONTROLLING TRANSPORTATION FACILITIES.

To all of these advantages must be added the still greater one of larger capital employed, oneness of policy, the best modern machinery, the largest amount of available cheap raw material and the best character of workmen.

Some success, for Blair said to Brenda: "Miss Miller tells me that you are much disturbed by the absurd attempts to identify you with the so-called 'mysterious woman' in this unfortunate affair. I think I can put a stop to these stories."

"Was it for that that she asked you to come here?" demanded Brenda, who, by Elsie's request, had not been informed in advance of this attempt.

"Oh, no; it was merely incidental," replied Blair, "and my conclusion depends partly upon my having seen you again. Your word should, of course, have been enough for me, but I have not taken a proper view of the seriousness of the matter. I shall now state positively that you are not the lady I saw."

"I would prefer that you say nothing at all," said Brenda after a brief interval of reflection.

Blair showed his surprise. "I do not understand," he said. "Surely you wish me to speak the truth?"

"I was not aware that you made it a matter of conscience," replied Brenda, slightly inclining her head by way of dismissal to Blair, who was upon the point of leaving the room.

CHAPTER XIV. "THIEF, HORATIO, THIEF."

THE next morning's papers contained interviews with Dr. Blair in which he stated in the most positive manner that the mysterious woman was not Miss MacLane. This did not have the effect of taking Brenda entirely out of print, but it inspired all the newspaper writers with caution, for, though some of them were not able to believe that Blair was telling the truth, it was impossible to overlook the fact that he was the only witness.

The most serious of the immediate results of this publication was experienced by Dr. Blair himself about 10 o'clock in the forenoon, when he received a call from Captain Neale. The captain seemed not to be representing the department upon this occasion, for he was in the dress of a private citizen. Even his shoes were different from a policeman's characteristic footwear. As the apparel evidently was not worn for purposes of disguise, it might be assumed that Mr. Neale had come upon a personal errand.

When admitted to Dr. Blair's office, he first showed interest in all the doors opening from the room; then he bestowed a moment's attention upon some of the doctor's effects which had been collected as if to be packed in a large trunk.

"Going away?" inquired Neale. "Move," responded Blair.

"What for?"

"You've succeeded in spoiling my practice around here," was the reply. "I am not more modest than other doctors, but the kind of conspicuousness which comes from having a uniformed policeman call at the house every ten minutes is not a good advertisement. So I have engaged other quarters."

"Where?"

"I would like to tell you that it's none of your business," said Blair, "but that wouldn't prevent you from finding out. I'm going up town."

And he gave the address, which the captain ostentatiously noted down. Having done this, he looked Blair in the eye and said:

"I don't know whether you're going or not."

"Make your mind easy," replied the doctor. "I am."

"You're an important witness in this case," said the captain, "and I want you where I can get my hands on you."

"Well, I'm not going far."

The captain screwed up his queer eyebrows in his own peculiar fashion. "It's my opinion," said he, "that you're going to the house of detention."

Blair looked uneasy, but he mustered a smile.

"The house of detention is for the poor," he said. "It is for people who will stand being imprisoned six months or a year for nothing without making any fuss about it."

Blair let the lid of the trunk fall heavily and then sat down on top of it. "Well, you needn't tell me what it is," he said. "I'll take your word for it that it's a good one. In short, you intend to ruin me in this town."

The captain put his hand into his pocket in a way that made Blair nervous, but it was nothing more formidable than a piece of chewing tobacco that appeared. Neale nodded slowly as he bit off a piece.

"From the beginning of this case," said the doctor, "I have been totally unable to understand your game. What is it?"

"My game," replied the captain, "is to take good care of Joseph Neale."

"Well," said Blair, "what have I done to prevent it?"

"Ever hear the story of the beggar who asked the professional charity man for a dime?"

"I don't remember it," said the doctor.

"The charity man said: 'Go over on the other side of the street. I'm working this side!'"

Blair appeared to ponder deeply upon the significance of this ancient tale in the present situation.

Question Answered.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for indigestion or biliousness. Doctors were scarce and they seldom heard of appendicitis, nervous prostration or heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop formation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. Your only need a few does of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. You can get Dr. G. G. Green's reliable remedies at Charles F. An Appeal to the Women of This City Which Should Not Go Unheeded.

MRS. G. G. HILDRETH.

The following expression of gratitude ought to interest every person in this city, particularly the women. It is an open letter from Mrs. G. G. Hildreth of Worcester Mass:

"It gives me great pleasure to testify to the phenomenal success that I have had with Blood Wine. For some time I was all run down. Had a dragged out feeling. Couldn't sleep. Was losing flesh and my appetite. I felt overworked, yet didn't do hardly anything. My color was all gone, and my cheeks had a faded, sickly appearance, that made my friends all tell me I was going to die. Yes, I believe I really was in a decline, for I was a mere shadow, and the world seemed to hold no hope for me. I was sad, melancholy,

"What can I do for you, doctor?" he asked in the tone of one who has ceased to expect good from any interview.

"Miss Miller, who is my patient at the hospital, wishes to see you," said Kendall, "and I called to ask you to come over."

"I hope a consultation isn't necessary," said Blair, with a faint smile. "I understood that her recovery was assured."

"It is in regard to Miss MacLane," responded Kendall, with considerable embarrassment.

Blair faintly groaned.

"I wish I had kept my mouth shut," he said. "Of course if I can do anything to please Miss Miller," he added hastily, "I shall be delighted. I know her slightly, and she is a very charming girl. But really this matter of Miss MacLane is wearing my life out. Policemen, reporters, unidentified vagabonds—"

"And, last of all, a doctor," added Kendall.

"Have worried the flesh off my bones," continued Blair without noticing the interruption. "They insist that I shall identify Miss MacLane as the woman I saw. They present threats and bribes. They offer all sorts of ridiculous plans for bringing Miss MacLane and me together so that I may be sure of her. But I have seen Miss MacLane already, and I have said all that I have to say upon the subject."

"You have not said that she was not the woman," suggested Kendall.

"No, and I won't," responded Blair promptly. "Why should I?"

"Unless you are sure," said Kendall. "You may feel like delaying a final statement, but I can't help thinking that your course takes little account of Miss MacLane's welfare; I might almost say of her rights. However, I must not get excited about it."

"You seem to take a considerable interest," said Blair. "You have known Miss MacLane for some years, I am told. But that is none of my business. What does Miss Miller wish me to do?"

"She believes that she can convince you that Miss MacLane is not the woman you saw," replied Kendall.

Blair was silent for some moments.

"I don't see how that is possible," he said at last, "but I would be very glad to oblige her, or you, if I could. There is, however, such a thing as the truth, you know."

Kendall was beginning to feel painfully anxious. "She seems to have some communication which is in the highest degree confidential."

"I shall treat whatever she says as a matter between doctor and patient," replied Blair, somewhat too promptly, as Kendall thought.

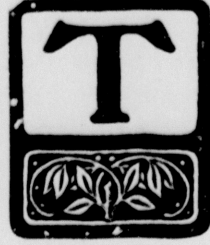

Nothing of importance occurred during the time when Brenda and Kendall were present with Blair in Elsie's room. It might have been one of the doctor's regular professional calls.

The private conference lasted not more than five minutes, and it produced no very notable effect upon Elsie, but Dr. Blair seemed to have received a considerable surprise. Kendall was far from satisfied with the man's looks. He was not only agitated, but he had the air of one who is both scared and pleased, like a man who sees an opportunity the nature of which both attracts and frightens him. And the thought came to Kendall that this secret might affect Brenda, whose father was very weak in the nerves and very strong in the pocket.

On the face of the matter, however, it appeared that Elsie had achieved a

I spent all the money I could on doctors, and got no relief. One day I went to the proprietors of 'Blood Wine' and told my story. I asked if they could help me, and they told me to call again in three days. This I did, and they encouraged me, and gave me two bottles of medicine, which I took and felt relief at once. I continued the treatment, and one by one the different symptoms disappeared. I have just reached the point where I feel entirely well, and will discontinue the medicine. I am now a stout, healthy woman (as my picture will indicate) and owe it all—my life—to 'Blood Wine.' It is the grandest thing I ever saw, and no woman (or man either) should be without it in the house. I will gladly substantiate this statement in a personal letter to any one interested."

A Name Twice Made Famous, Now a Shining Mark for Imitators.

The name "Chase," twice made famous, is a shining mark for the unscrupulous to imitate upon and appropriate in order to boast upon the public their worthless preparations. These birds of prey, by using the name Chase, expect the public to be fooled into believing they are the medicines of Dr. A. W. Chase, who first became noted as the author of the world-famous Dr. Chase's recipe book and family physician, and whose name is now doubly increased by the wonderful success of his Nerve Pills, with Nerve, Brain and Blood troubles. They play upon the name Chase, but dare not use the initials "A. W."

They imitate, but dare not counterfeit the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, which identifies the Nerve Pills now recognized as infallible for building up pale, weak, thin-blooded, nerve exhausted sufferers.

Who are nerve-tired and brain-weary.
Who are easily exhausted.
Who are wakeful—cannot sleep.
Who have nervous headache.
They remove the cause of blood impurities, securing refreshing sleep and impart strength.
They build up people who find their strength and vigor waning.
They settle irritated nerves, replace lax bowels and lassitude with energy and animation. Cure Nervous Dyspepsia.

The above is the right kind prepared by Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y., 50 cents per box. All others are imitations.

SAILORS LOSE LIVES.

Bodies From Unknown Craft Washed Ashore on Long Island Shore.

FURIOUS GALE ALONG COAST.

Full Rigged Ship Stranded and Life Savers Unable to Get a Line to Her. Two Heavy Sea-Going Tugs Sunk, but Crews Saved.

New York, Feb. 4.—The gale which had been sweeping the coasts of Long Island and New Jersey for more than 24 hours previous was continuing last night, though with abated force. It had brought death and disaster to sailors and their craft. Reports of loss of life are confirmed to the east-end of Long Island, whence comes news that several bodies have been washed ashore. It was not known up to 10 o'clock last night what vessels the men who lost their lives came from. They might have been on either the barges towed by the tug Richmond, reported as missing, with-out town, Block Island, bound from New York for Newport, R. I., or the tug Cuba, which passed Block Island two hours later, which left New London, Conn., Sunday for Newport News, and was returning without tow. When leaving port the Richmond had three barges and the Cuba two.

Wreckage strewn the shore in the vicinity of the Bellport, L. I., life saving station, and one body came ashore east of this station. One barge was crashing about the ship near Forge River station. The finding of two other bodies was reported later from the same point.

The largest piece of wreckage is the after quarter and a portion of the stern of a barge. On this last were the letters "O. P. E."

The crew of the American merchantman Schepp, a full rigged ship, which went ashore on Long Beach, L. I., early yesterday, were in peril all day yesterday. Late reports last night said they were still on the stranded vessel, though the danger of death had been lessened owing to the slight abatement of the storm.

The life savers of Captain Rhoades station and those of Long Beach station, under Captain Van Wicklen, made several attempts to shoot the life lines over the Schepp, but the efforts were not successful. Then they tried to launch the life boat, but this, too, proved impossible owing to the high seas.

The crews of seven men each of the sea-going tugs John E. Berwind and E. S. Atwood had a very narrow escape from going to the bottom with their craft Sunday afternoon. Nothing was known of their plight until the arrival Monday of the German steamer Barcelona, the crew of which rescued the tug men. Within half an hour after this the two tugs went to the bottom with the dunnage of the men.

Philadelphia, Feb. 4.—The wind storm which began Sunday afternoon, and reached a velocity of 50 miles along the Southern New Jersey coast and in the vicinity of the Delaware breakwater, greatly diminished, and last night was blowing at a rate of about 20 miles an hour. Reports from the South Jersey coast and Delaware river points indicated that vessels that were exposed to the gale weathered the storm fairly well. Two vessels were ashore on Brigantine shoal, a short distance north of Atlantic City, N. J., and two steamers were reported aground in Delaware bay, about 50 miles below this city.

SIXTEEN RECOVERED ALIVE.

Eighteen Mexican Miners Still Missing and 34 Bodies Have Been Recovered.

Eagle Pass, Texas, Feb. 4.—Eighty-four bodies and 16 men, barely alive, some of them horribly mangled, have been taken from the Hondo mines. The foul odor from the mines caused the search for the bodies to be temporarily discontinued, but disinfectants arrived, and the work will be resumed.

The shaft had 118 men enrolled, and 18 are still missing. Twenty-five head of dead mules have been taken from the shaft. The damage to the property is very great. The company has obtained all the physicians and nurses that can be secured from all points and is doing everything possible to save any of the miners who may be still alive. The scene at the opening of the mine was horrible. Wives, mothers and children of the dead and mangled men who perished in the explosion were screaming and crying and they refused to leave the scene.

CRASHED THROUGH TRESTLE.

Engineer and Fireman Killed In Accident Near Weston, West Virginia.

Wheeling, W. Va., Feb. 4.—Two dead and three badly injured is the result of a train going through a trestle on the Gauley railroad near Perry's siding.

The Dead. A. C. Nute, engineer, of Weston. Goodlow Ward, fireman, of Weston. The injured included W. H. Wolfe and two other brakemen, names unknown.

The engine and several cars of the freight train crashed through the trestle to the ground, many feet below. A special train was dispatched to the scene of the wreck from Weston, with railroad surgeons.

Engineer Nute leaves a wife. Fireman Ward was unmarried.

TWO DIED OF STARVATION.

Two Others Insane From Cold and Privation.

Philadelphia, Feb. 4.—A pitiful story of destitution came to light here yesterday, when the coroner was notified of the death of Mrs. Mary Wright, aged 82 years, and her son Joseph, aged 30 years, at their home in the outskirts of the city. The aged woman and the young man had died of starvation, and two other members of the family, Jane and Wycliff, both middle aged, were found to be insane and suffering from cold and privation. Little is known of the Wright family. Mrs. Wright's husband died some time ago. It became known that the mother had succumbed Sunday night to neglect and lack of nourishment, and when Joseph Wright was informed of her death the shock, added to his weakened condition, resulted in his death.

Jane and Wycliff, the two remaining members of the family, are in a pitiable state and are now being cared for by neighbors.

TEACHERS AIDED PROMPTLY.

Heroic Work Prevented Panic In Evening School.

Toledo, O., Feb. 4.—But for the prompt and heroic action of the teachers of the Nebraska avenue school there would certainly have been a heavy loss of life among the pupils. A short time prior to the time to begin the morning session of school fire broke out in one of the school rooms and within a few moments the building was filled with smoke. The children were at first horrified, but the principal gave the fire signals, and the children, 250 in number, at once fell into line and marched from the burning building in perfect order. The children have been taking fire drills for several years. The fire started from an overheated furnace, and the loss was about $10,000.

England Has Declined.

Its action upon the system is unlike any other external remedy, as it never drives the disease to take effect on the Internal Organs. Its properties, when applied, go directly to the diseased part, and, as it passes into the circulation, it separates all the poisonous and corrupt humors, and attracts them through the perspiring vessels to the surface, and entirely eradicates the disease from the system. It is simply asked that the afflicted will TRY ONE BOX, the use of which will convince the most skeptical.

It is warranted to cure the worst cases of corrupt humors and sores after all other remedies have failed or money refunded.

The Dead.
A. C. Nute, engineer, of Weston.
Goodlow Ward, fireman, of Weston.
The injured include W. H. Wolfe and two other brakemen, names unknown.

The engine and several cars of the freight train crashed through the treble to the ground, many feet below.
A special train was dispatched to the scene of the wreck from Weston, with railroad surgeons.

Engineer Nute leaves a wife. Fireman Ward was unmarried.

TWO DIED OF STARVATION.
Two Others Insane From Cold and Privation.

Philadelphia, Feb. 4.—A pitiful story of destitution came to light here yesterday, when the coroner was notified of the death of Mrs. Mary Wright, aged 82 years, and her son Joseph, aged 30 years, at their home in the outskirts of the city. The aged woman and the young man had died of starvation, and two other members of the family, Jane and Wycliff, both middle aged, were found to be insane and suffering from cold and privation.

Little is known of the Wright family. Mrs. Wright's husband died some time ago. It became known that the mother had succumbed Sunday night to neglect and lack of nourishment, and when Joseph Wright was informed of her death the shock, added to his weakened condition, resulted in his death.

Jane and Wycliff, the two remaining members of the family, are in a pitiable state and are now being cared for by neighbors.

TEACHERS AIDED PROMPTLY.
Heroic Work Prevented Panic In

Toledo, O., Feb. 4.—But for the prompt and heroic action of the teach-there would certainly have been a heavy loss of life among the pupils.

gin the morning session of school fire broke out in one of the school rooms

Climax
Salve
A FAMILY BLESSING FOR 25 CENTS.
THIS SALVE IS A COMPOUND OF ARNICA and CALENDULA, WITH MANY VEGETABLE EXTRACTS AND BALSAMS ADDED, EACH OF WHICH HAS LONG BEEN CELEBRATED FOR Subduing Pain and Inflammation, with active and most wonderful Healing Virtues.

Its action upon the system is unlike any other external remedy, as it never drives the disease to take effect on the Internal Organs. Its properties, when applied, go directly to the diseased part, and, as it passes into the circulation, it separates all the poisonous and corrupt humors, and attracts them through the perspiring vessels to the surface, and entirely eradicates the disease from the system. It is simply asked that the afflicted will TRY ONE BOX, the use of which will convince the most skeptical.
It is warranted to cure the worst cases of corrupt humors and sores after all other remedies have failed or money refunded.

We know of a lot of misguided folks who ignored the real estate dealer and consequently paid more for their properties than they were listed at in our office. Lots more are doing it every day. WHY CAN WE GIVE YOU A BETTER PRICE? Because we must, and because of our experience and knowledge of value of real estate.

TEST US—If we don't measure up, don't deal with us. There will be no hard feeling on our part. All we ask is to be allowed to consider your wants, quote our prices and show you our properties.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

HAD A BRIEF BUT BUSINESS-LIKE SESSION.

Supt. Rayman's Report Explains Some Matters Which Parents Cannot Understand.

A 20-minute session of the board of education was held last evening. Only four members were present. As has been the custom of this board, business was rushed through in order that some members might attend a revival service. The members did not take time to come into the directors' room, and the meeting was held in the office of Supt. Rayman.

The election of B. C. Simms as a school examiner for a term of three years was the first matter considered, after which Clerk W. C. Hill was instructed to notify the Ft. Pitt Gas company that if they did not furnish more gas to the Horace Mann building, in Helena, the board would take measures to get gas from another source.

The following bills were ordered paid: William Strauss, $1.50; Wilson Stationery company, $34.10; Myler Brothers, $38.02; Robert Hall, 60 cents; Vodrey Pottery company, $2.50; Watson & Sloan, $1.40; Pennsylvania company, 57 cents; Ft. Pitt Gas company, $81.60; Ohio Valley Gas company, $286.65; Ceramic City Light company, $7.40; Hill & Wallace, $1.30.

Supt. Rayman's report for the past month showed the average daily attendance in the high school to be 73 males and 139 females. On the honor roll were 35 males and 68 females. The grand total showed an enrollment of 1,484 males and 1,534 females for the month, with an average daily attendance of 1,361 males and 1,399 females. The honor roll was 499 males and 507 females.

Many children in the lower grades are given to staying out of school at the least sign of bad weather. In this way they lose valuable time and miss lessons. Then eventually they fail to complete the year's work and their parents cannot understand why they are detained in the same grade another year.

The common schools are divided into grades so that the pupils may have an opportunity to advance as they acquire more knowledge. If, therefore, they are absent, they do not do the required work, and hence cannot be promoted. Careful investigation shows that where pupils are regular in their attendance, 90 per cent of them make their promotions at the end of the year.

The teachers and all interested in the schools are especially anxious to have all pupils regular in attendance, because so much depends upon the first and second year's work. A good start here, as a rule, means superior work in the grades following. "The destiny of nation depends upon primary schools."

PROBATE MATTERS

Administratrix Authorized to Settle With Railroad For Husband's Death For $3,250.

Lisbon, February 4.—(Special)—The testimony of Henry S. Winsper and Harry S. Scholl has been received and the will of Lawrence Naughton, late of Unity township, admitted to probate. William Naughton has been appointed administrator.

The will of the late Richard McSweeney, of Wellsville, has been admitted to probate. Margaret Broderick is administratrix.

The Bankers' Surety company, of Cleveland, has been authorized by the probate court to transact business in Columbiana county with W. H. Hepburn as agent and Lodge Riddle as attorney.

Leah Ann Philpot, of Salineville, as administratrix of the estate of Edward Philpot, has asked the court to give her authority to settle with the Pennsylvania company for her husband's death. While employed as a carpenter by that company Philpot received fatal injuries. The company claims no blame attaches to it, it offers $3,250 in settlement. The permission of the court to settle was granted.

SENTENCE SUSPENDED

Wiley Farmer's Mother Saves Him From a Trip to the Workhouse.

Mayor Davidson suspended sentence on Wiley Farmer, who was to have been taken to the workhouse to liquidate a fine of $50 and costs. The young man's mother appealed to the mayor, saying he was her only support and that she needed shoes and clothing. Wiley promised to be good and was given a chance to show how well he succeeds.

Robert Clark, arrested yesterday afternoon by Officer Morris, pleaded guilty to drunkenness and paid a fine of $1 and costs.

be expected. The handsome donation of Professor Thompson was gratefully received, but there are conditions attached which will render it impossible to count the $1,000 as being a part of the institution's funds now.

Four donations of $100 each have been received during the past two years, coming from merchants and others of means. Aside from these every cent contributed has come from the working people of the city, the donations from this source being far in excess of that received from men who could afford to give generously. The association members are at a loss to account for this condition of affairs, and hope that some plan can be devised whereby the people of means may be induced to contribute to the most worthy cause.

The receipts from the rummage sales now being held by the association have not been as large as many would like, but a neat sum will doubtless be realized.

At the meeting this afternoon steps will be taken to consolidate the sales.

CHILDREN'S PARTY

Enjoyable affair in Honor of the Little Daughter of Chal Peterson.

One of the prettiest little affairs given this season in the way of children's parties was that of the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chal Peterson on Saturday afternoon. The affair was in honor of the third birthday of Miss Ruth, and was attended by about 50 children. The house was beautifully decorated in cut flowers and palms. Red and white were the colors. Baby Ruth was dressed in white over red, and all the children presented a fine appearance.

Misses Kate Boyce, Maude Carr, Alice Swaney and Mrs. Frank Swaney, Mrs. John Anderson, Mrs. Wilson Smith and Mrs. Laura Williams assisted Mrs. Peterson in making the occasion memorable. There were games and music and light refreshments. Baby Ruth was the recipient of very many beautiful presents, among them fifteen solid silver spoons. The tiny guests enjoyed themselves to the utmost.

The McGillvary farm in Madison township was sold by the sheriff today.

Appeal from Squire McCarron.
Lisbon, February 4.—(Special)—Two suits against George Perry and Alma Perry, of East Liverpool, have been appealed by the defendants from Justice McCarron's court to common pleas court. Stephen Hague sued for $24.50 for labor and Jennie Hague claims $14.40, also for labor.

elections in counties with a population of not less than 70,000 nor more than 75,000 authority over city elections, thus revoking the powers of city boards of election. The measure applies to Mahoning and Summit counties only. If it passes it will affect Columbiana county when the next federal census is taken. The county's population at the federal census of 1900 was 68,599.

Senator Harding introduced a bill extending the period of encampment of the Ohio National Guard from eight to ten days. It is urged this will promote to the efficiency of the Guard. A bill by Mr. Willis, of Harding, provides for the printing of a roster of the Ohio soldiers who participated in the Spanish war.

The tract of land which the Bell Pottery company, of Findlay, is negotiating to purchase, is a portion of an estate, and the heirs have petitioned the court for permission to sell the property. The pottery company secured an option on the land, and it is stated that the deal will be closed soon. The company expects to erect a large pottery on the ground. Cashier Charles C. Green, of the

The car that it is supposed to operate on this road is about completed, but it will not be run for several weeks at least.

SECURED HIS LIBERTY

"Jabbers" Hoskins Pays Back Money He Confiscated And Is Out of Jail.

After spending several days in jail, "Jabbers" Hoskins secured his freedom yesterday afternoon, a friend having lent financial assistance. It required the sum of $9 to make up Hoskins' deficiency.

The young man pleaded guilty at the time of his arrest to having spent money which he found in a pocket-book belonging to Mrs. Narcissa Jackman. Her agreement to withdraw the charge of petit larceny and give Hoskins a chance to pay back the money saved him from a long jail sentence.

For the Baseball Club—An entertainment, musical and literary, will be given at the Y. M. C. A. hall tonight. It is a benefit for the baseball club, to raise money to purchase suits.

Not Badly Hurt—Lawrence Stoffel, who was hurt Saturday night by colliding with a horse while coasting on Avondale street, is improving rapidly and not in any danger. The reports that his injuries are likely to result fatally are incorrect.

No Calcutta Road Car—Announcement was made yesterday evening by Supt. Thomas Reed, of the East Liverpool Railway company, that no car would be operated on the Calcutta branch until the weather moderated. The car that it is supposed to operate on this road is about completed, but it will not be run for several weeks at least.

Sleighing Party Postponed—The sleighing party that was to have been given last evening to the members of the Sunday school class of Miss Josie Burford, of the M. P. church, was postponed until later in the week. This evening Miss Emma Orr and Miss Jennie Lucas will give a sleighing party to a number of friends to Calcutta.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

HAD A BRIEF BUT BUSINESS-LIKE SESSION.

Supt. Rayman's Report Explains Some Matters Which Parents Cannot Understand.

A 20-minute session of the board of education was held last evening. Only four members were present. As has been the custom of this board, business was rushed through in order that some members might attend a revival service. The members did not take time to come into the directors' room, and the meeting was held in the office of Supt. Rayman.

The election of B. C. Simms as a school examiner for a term of three years was the first matter considered, after which Clerk W. C. Hill was instructed to notify the Ft. Pitt Gas company that if they did not furnish more gas to the Horace Mann building, in Helena, the board would take measures to get gas from another source.

The following bills were ordered paid: William Strauss, $1.50; Wilson Stationery company, $34.10; Myler Brothers, $38.02; Robert Hall, 60 cents; Vodrey Pottery company, $2.50; Watson & Sloan, $1.40; Pennsylvania company, 57 cents; Ft. Pitt Gas company, $81.60; Ohio Valley Gas company, $286.65; Ceramic City Light company, $7.40; Hill & Wallace, $1.30.

Supt. Rayman's report for the past month showed the average daily attendance in the high school to be 73 males and 139 females. On the honor roll were 35 males and 68 females. The grand total showed an enrollment of 1,484 males and 1,534 females for the month, with an average daily attendance of 1,361 males and 1,399 females. The honor roll was 499 males and 507 females.

Many children in the lower grades are given to staying out of school at the least sign of bad weather. In this way they lose valuable time and miss lessons. Then eventually they fail to complete the year's work and their parents cannot understand why they are detained in the same grade another year.

The common schools are divided into grades so that the pupils may have an opportunity to advance as they acquire more knowledge. If, therefore, they are absent, they do not do the required work, and hence cannot be promoted. Careful investigation shows that where pupils are regular in their attendance, 90 per cent of them make their promotions at the end of the year.

The teachers and all interested in the schools are especially anxious to have all pupils regular in attendance, because so much depends upon the first and second year's work. A good start here, as a rule, means superior work in the grades following. "The destiny of nation depends upon primary schools."

PROBATE MATTERS

Administratrix Authorized to Settle With Railroad For Husband's Death For $3,250.

Lisbon, February 4.—(Special)—The testimony of Henry S. Winsper and Harry S. Scholl has been received and the will of Lawrence Naughton, late of Unity township, admitted to probate. William Naughton has been appointed administrator.

The will of the late Richard McSweeney, of Wellsville, has been admitted to probate. Margaret Broderick is administratrix.

The Bankers' Surety company, of Cleveland, has been authorized by the probate court to transact business in Columbiana county with W. H. Hepburn as agent and Lodge Riddle as attorney.

Leah Ann Philpot, of Salineville, as administratrix of the estate of Edward Philpot, has asked the court to give her authority to settle with the Pennsylvania company for her husband's death. While employed as a carpenter by that company Philpot received fatal injuries. The company claims no blame attaches to it, it offers $3,250 in settlement. The permission of the court to settle was granted.

SENTENCE SUSPENDED

Wiley Farmer's Mother Saves Him From a Trip to the Workhouse.

Mayor Davidson suspended sentence on Wiley Farmer, who was to have been taken to the workhouse to liquidate a fine of $50 and costs. The young man's mother appealed to the mayor, saying he was her only support and that she needed shoes and clothing. Wiley promised to be good and was given a chance to show how well he succeeds.

Robert Clark, arrested yesterday afternoon by Officer Morris, pleaded guilty to drunkenness and paid a fine of $1 and costs.

be expected. The handsome donation of Professor Thompson was gratefully received, but there are conditions attached which will render it impossible to count the $1,000 as being a part of the institution's funds now.

Four donations of $100 each have been received during the past two years, coming from merchants and others of means. Aside from these every cent contributed has come from the working people of the city, the donations from this source being far in excess of that received from men who could afford to give generously. The association members are at a loss to account for this condition of affairs, and hope that some plan can be devised whereby the people of means may be induced to contribute to the most worthy cause.

At the meeting this afternoon steps will be taken to consolidate the sales.

CHILDREN'S PARTY

Enjoyable affair in Honor of the Little Daughter of Chal Peterson.

One of the prettiest little affairs given this season in the way of children's parties was that of the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chal Peterson on Saturday afternoon. The affair was in honor of the third birthday of Miss Ruth, and was attended by about 50 children. The house was beautifully decorated in cut flowers and palms. Red and white were the colors. Baby Ruth was dressed in white over red, and all the children presented a fine appearance.

Misses Kate Boyce, Maude Carr, Alice Swaney and Mrs. Frank Swaney, Mrs. John Anderson, Mrs. Wilson Smith and Mrs. Laura Williams assisted Mrs. Peterson in making the occasion memorable. There were games and music and light refreshments. Baby Ruth was the recipient of very many beautiful presents, among them fifteen solid silver spoons. The tiny guests enjoyed themselves to the utmost.

NEW HOSPITAL BUILDINGS FROM ARCHITECT'S PLANS

How the Structure Will Look
When It Is Completed and Ready For Use.

CAREFUL ATTENTION PAID

To All Sanitary Arrangements Which Are In Use In Best Hospitals.

ANNUAL MEETING POSTPONED

The Financial Report, Which Will Be Made Public Later, May Be a Disappointment to Many, But the Cause Is at Once Apparent.

The News Review today gives a pen
sketch of the beautiful new hospital
building from two points of view. The institution is to be erected on lower Sixth street, work on the same to be
commenced in the early spring.

The sketches are the work of Harry Frost, the talented young architect of
this city, and are an exact reproduction
of what the buildings will look like
when completed and ready for occupancy. The drawings were made from Architect Hammond's blue prints,
which, until recently, have been in the hands of local contractors.

The entire structure is to be of
pressed brick with stone caps and sills.
The materials to be used must, according to the specifications, be first class
in every particular.

The building will front 47 feet on Sixth street, the smaller illustration
showing front elevation of the administration building. The exterior appearance of this portion of the building while most substantial, is pretty
and well proportioned. Forty feet
from the curb line of Sixth street, and
on a slight elevation the front portico
feet, having four large colonial columns, the floor being of granite, a composition of cement and stone. The front door is very attractive, being fitted with artistic checkered glass, beveled, and French plate in quality. Entering the vestibule, which is large and
well furnished, one passes into the hall
beyond without apparently being aware of it, so wide and lofty is the passage. This hall is crossed in the center of the administration building
by another hall of precisely the same
dimensions. From these halls the various offices which accommodate the
officials of the institution are communicated with. Opening from the main hall is a door leading into the northeast corner room of the administration building. Here we have the business office. The room is 13x17.6, and is to be fitted with the best of office furniture.

Across the hall, also at the front of the building is located the operating room. The dimensions of the apartment are the same as those of the business office, and granite flooring is provided. Immediately to the rear of this room, and communicating with it
by folding doors, is the etherizing recovery department, measuring 11x11.
Behind the office, at the southwest
corner is found the dispensary room—
a most important department—11x18
feet. This room is provided with the very latest and most approved equipment found in a first class hospital.

The basement of the administration building is arranged for kitchen and
dining room. The former very essential department occupies a space 18x28
on the east side of the basement, while
the dining room will be just opposite,
but not so large, being only 11x15.6.

The top floor of the main building
will be taken up by seven bed chambers, the average size of which is 10x12. These rooms are to be nicely
furnished, each containing an open
fire place and hard wood or slate mantels. The floor also contains a toilet
and bath room.

above, and occupying a space 8.6x47
feet between the administration and ward buildings, is the sun parlor. This apartment is designed for the convalescent, and contains couches and num-
berless easy chairs. The room is well ventilated, and entrance may be gained from either side by means of doors
or through the administration building.
The walls of the room are composed wholly of glass, and special pains has been taken to make it comfortable
and attractive.

Adjoining the sun parlor and extending south for a distance of 65 feet
are two commodious ward buildings.

They have no connection, one with
another, and the only communication
possible is through the sun parlor or
the administration building.

At the north end of each ward building are situated the apartments of the attendants. The basement of this portion of the building is arranged to accommodate the heating apparatus. The arrangement of this system is by far
the most perfect scheme ever put into operation in this section. The room is 23x31, and the equipment, consisting of boilers and coal bins, is absolutely without a flaw. The registers
are made to connect with every part of the building. On the main floor is located the linen room, toilet room,
nurses' apartments and ward kitchen.
These rooms are about 10.6x10.6. Each
ward department, both of which open
from these rooms, is 25x65 feet, and
are separated their entire length by a court 46 feet in width.

On going into the ward rooms, each
of which is provided with 14 beds, the
visitor is attracted by the perfect arrangement of the apartment. At the foot of each bed, and just under its
edge, is a hot air register, which can

wall near the floor at the head of each
bed is a foul air passage. This latter arrangement connects with the attic,
and from there passes to the outside
by means of ventilators on the roof.

The entire building occupies an area 108x173 feet, and is planned with the greatest care with reference to sanitary surroundings.

The illustrations show a front view of the administration building as seen from Sixth street, and a side view of the entire structure looking from the west.

The annual meeting of the Hospital association was to have been held this afternoon, and indeed, the charter calls for the session on this date, but the president, Mrs. Monroe Patterson, is ill and the business of the year will not be wound up at this time.

LISBON WOMAN SUES FOR DIVORCE

Alleges Unfaithfulness, Cruelty and Non-Support on Husband's Part.

THE MAN MAKES A REPLY

Charging Her With Two Serious Offenses And Wants Her Enjoined From Disposing of a House Which He Deeded to Her.

Lisbon, February 4.—(Special)—
Margaret Rupp has sued for divorce from John Rupp, of Lisbon, charging cruelty, unfaithfulness and non-support. Rupp, in an answer, charges her with unfaithfulness and cruelty.

The couple were married in 1886 and have not lived together for six years.
During this time Mrs. Rupp claims she has supported herself. Rupp says he has ceded to her a house and lot in Lisbon worth $600. She promised to live with him, quarrelling, if he would do this. He asks the court to enjoin her from selling the property. He also wants a reasonable alimony.

GETS BETTER TERMS

And Lisbon Will Hereafter Send Workhouse Prisoners to Cleveland.

Lisbon, February 4.—(Special)—
City council, at a meeting last night, decided that all workhouse prisoners be sent to Cleveland instead of Canton, as better terms can be secured from the Cleveland authorities. It is said also that the Canton officials are so lenient with prisoners that the latter are anxious to return there. A proposition submitted by Herman Armstrong to make a plat showing the sewers and water mains of the town was accepted. The water works trustees handed in their quarterly report, showing $4,952 in the treasury.

BIDDLE BROTHERS Were For a Time Residents of This City and Worked Swind- ling Game Here.

Investigation of a rumor which has
been quietly circulated about the city,
disclosed the somewhat interesting
fact today that the famous Biddle
brothers, who escaped from the Allegheny county jail at Pittsburg a few days ago, being later rounded up by detectives and shot to death, were in this city several weeks during the summer of 1900.

The brothers were representatives
of a branch store of a woolen company, which was located on Market
street, at the corner of Drury lane,
where the office of the Ft. Pitt Gas
company is at present located.

It is recalled by a number of persons who had dealings with the woolen company that several salesmen worked in this city and Wells-
ville during the months the firm was located here. The Biddle boys were among the number, and it is said that during the last few weeks they remained with the company they practiced a swindling game that netted
them handsome profits.

Their game was to take orders for
suits of clothes, the price charged
for each being $15. With each order
the purchaser was asked to pay down $5 with the understanding that the balance, $10, was to be forthcoming
when the suits were delivered.

The fact that this method had been
the rule of the company made it an easy matter for the Biddles to gather
in victims, and it is known that no
less than 20 persons paid their $5
each for a suit of clothes that never
was made. After the tricky brothers
had left the city other salesmen of the woolen company worked the same kind of a game and met with good success until their employees learned of their crooked transactions. Just a few days thereafter the salesmen and all others connected with the local branch quietly disappeared and have never been heard from by the many who had been swindled.

Sanitary Officer Burgess well remembers Jack Biddle, as that young man once tried to sell him a suit of clothes. Chief Thompson remembers
Jack Biddle and also Ed Biddle. During a conversation in Larkins' drug store last evening it developed that three of the persons who were among
the group talking the case over had been swindled by the Biddle boys.

It could not be learned where the
young men boarded while here, but
both occupied a room which they rented from a woman living on Jackson street. The statement was made to a reporter today by a well known
business man that the Biddles first met May Smith during the time they worked here. The woman has always contended that she did not know either
of the young men until they came
to her house while she was living in Pittsburg, where Ed Biddle killed Detective Fitzgerald.

Contrary to Mrs. Smith's claim,
however, the business man referred to
stated positively that he had seen
Mrs. Smith and both of the Biddles
in his place of business at various times conversing together. The same
claim is made by others who contend
that it was the Biddles who first induced Mrs. Smith to go to Pittsburg.

PRESENTS A LARGE BILL

Winona Man Sued By Abraham Heston for Board And Labor.

Lisbon, February 4.—(Special)— Willard A. Heston has filed suit against Abraham Heston, of Winona, for $138, alleged to be due for board;
for $60.50 paid out on order of C. C.
Connell, formerly guardian of Abraham Heston, and for $625 for over four years' labor at $150 per year.

CUPID AGAIN VICTORIOUS DESPITE MUCH ADVERSITY

However, a meeting will be held and
a number of matters in need of attention will be looked after.

One of the most important duties
of the officers on the occasion of the regular annual meeting is the auditing of the treasurer's books, a task
that will have to be performed before
a financial statement is given out. It was hoped that a financial report of the condition of the association could be used in connection with this article, but it will be impossible owing to the postponement of the meeting.

Some of the contractors who were asked to bid on the construction of
the building have informed the building committee that they hesitate to do so because it is feared the amount
of money on hand will not justify
them in taking hold of the work. The association hopes to satisfy the contractors and the public in general
upon this subject as soon as the report can be prepared.

It is a fact, however, that the statement will be a surprise to many, as
it will show less ready money in the hands of the association than would Marriage of a Popular Young Couple Who Braved Par- entai Objections.

ELOPED TO STEUBENVILLE

Soon Took the Vows That Made Them As One and Started For New York.

A TELEGRAM SENT TO MOTHER

By the Bride, Who Stopped Long Enough at Pittsburg to Pencil the Message That Caused Great Commotion.

Excitement was worked to a high pitch last evening as a result of the elopement of Robert Miller, of Wells-
ville, and Miss Christina Kinsvatter,
of this city, both of whom disappeared yesterday morning, being later
married at Steubenville.

The bride is the daughter of Lawrence Kinsvatter, of the West End,
and has been clerking in Jacob Stein's store on Sixth street for some time. Miller is a brother of Mrs.
Stein and has been in charge of the store at Wellsville. Until a few weeks ago he managed Stein's store
in this city. He paid close attention to Miss Kinsvatter, which ripened into
a warm infatuation.

It is said that the young lady's parents objected to her companionship
with Miller and had refused to permit the young man to call on her.
This barrier was not sufficient to overcome the growing love and at last it was decided to cap the climax
by marriage.

Making all preparations Sunday
night the couple boarded the early morning train at Wellsville and went to Steubenville, where the binding
knot was tied. Then boarding a Panhandle train the couple started for
New York.

When Pittsburg was reached Mrs.
Miller stopped long enough to send
a telegram to her mother announcing
her marriage, which was received last evening. The contents of the message was read with great surprise and
when the facts of the elopement became known about the city many of the friends of the couple were almost dumbfounded.

Both held high positions in society
and have a wide acquaintance. It was due to these facts that their romantic
marriage has given rise to many ex-
clamations of surprise.

The New Century club met Saturday
afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. D.

ject taken up was "The Home." After
a number of quotations from Dickens,
the interest of the home was discussed
at length. It was the opinion of all present that the health of the primary departments of the public schools was
in need of better regulations. The club was entertained by Professor S.

Republicans Find It Difficult to Find a Man Willing to Be a Candidate.

The matter of having a Republican assessor for the Fifth ward is causing considerable discussion in that part of the city just now. When the Republican central committee adjourned last Saturday evening the assessorship of the Fifth ward was left blank because no one had signified a desire to run for the place, and now the vacancy has to be filled by the committeemen of the ward. One of the committeemen called upon Walter Supplee last evening and also on William Kinney, asking them to make the race at the primaries.

Mr. Kinney refused to allow his name to be used, and Mr. Supplee stated that his name could be used, but he will not make a fight for the position.

James Orr, a Democrat, is filling the office of assessor of the Fifth ward now and many Republicans speak well of his work during his term of office.

The Republican candidate for this office last year was Lot Haney, but he was defeated by Mr. Orr.

OVERCOME BY THE COLD

Young Lady Rendered Unconscious By Exposure to the Freezing Atmosphere.

Lillian Smith, residing near Dry Run, who is employed in the decorating department of the Laughlin pottery, while coming to her work yesterday morning, was almost frozen. The wind blowing up Pennsylvania avenue was very raw and by the time the young lady reached the pottery she was so cold she soon became unconscious.

She was assisted to a restaurant nearby, where friends worked with her for several hours before she revived sufficiently to be taken to her home.

ANOTHER POLLING PLACE

Is Wanted for the Accommodation of Some of the Fifth Ward Voters.

Not a few voters are heard in the Fifth ward now about the polling places. Since the First ward was divided and the Fifth created, the polling place has always been at the East End fire station on Virginia avenue. In some instances the vote at this place has been very light compared to what it would have been had there been a polling place in the eastern part of the ward.

Well known Republicans of this ward are anxious that a full vote shall be polled at the primaries, and only wish arrangements could be made by the central committee to have an additional polling place located at Dry Run, or near the Neville institute.

One of the largest weddings ever held in Toronto will take place tomorrow when Miss Maude McCausland, of Toronto, and J. W. Reitzke, of the East End, will be married at the residence of the bride's parents by Rev. Mr. McIlvaine, of Toronto. A large number of invitations have been issued and after a short wedding trip the young couple will return to the East End, where they will make their future home.

Gas Pressure Caused Fire.

A small fire occurred in the new residence owned by James Elliott, on First avenue, Sunday evening and occupied by H. H. C. Hammerton. During the evening the gas was turned down near the stove instead of at the connection, back of the stove, and the pressure of gas burst the small gum hose, igniting the gas. A portion of the floor and wall was burned. The fire department was not called.

U. P. Church Services.

The prayer meeting service at the Second U. P. church tomorrow evening will be under the direction of John White. Immediately after this service a congregational meeting will be held, when action will be taken upon the recent resignation of Rev. J. R. Greene.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

Rev. N. M. Crowe was in Vanport last evening attending a wedding. East End Tribe of Ben Hur held its bi-monthly meeting last evening. The meeting was largely attended and considerable important business was transacted.

The household effects of Rev. J. R. Greene will likely be shipped to Sharon tomorrow. Rev. Mr. Greene expects to leave Thursday for Sharon, and next Sunday will preach his first sermon there.

At a meeting of Eureka circle, P. H. C., to be held this evening, 15 new members will be initiated and action taken upon five new applications. The membership of the circle has been increasing quite rapidly of late.

Sheet Steel Company and Tin Plate Company Accused of Violating the Laws of Ohio.

Columbus, Feb. 4.—(Special).—The American Sheet Steel company and the American Tin Plate company have filed general demurrers to the suits filed against them by Attorney-General Sheets, to enforce the collection of penalties amounting to $23,000 for alleged violation of the law requiring foreign corporations to make annual reports to the secretary of the state and pay a certain per centage of the amount of their capital stock to the state.

Both companies are charged with violating the law for a period of 14 months. A penalty of $1,000 may be imposed for non-compliance of the law, and an additional $1,000 may be added for each month that the violation exists.

SONNETICAL NOTES ON PHILOSOPHY.

Though by imagination so far foiled Creation is on conscious man intent; And vainly aught resist to end its bent. However often of its wish despoiled; Behold, the man from his wilful life as-soiled Against his will yet without dissent, When evolution end predicament, Where to Christ's truth for fruitless ages toiled.

Be now an abstract, O my merry man, And look as in a glass upon thyself, And volumes read to cease your merriment;

Pure nonsense, now, imagination plan; Where blind, search sinuosity of pelf; And weak, all power find for detriment.

But fruitless ages, even, pass away, And fruitful swallow up the barren years, When in result the toil applied appears.

If consummation chance its cost repay; Sure justice will adjudication sway To estimate the value of the tears For compensation on a final day.

Not Christ, nor absolute philosophy, Attend to end that evolution go, But strive to have on earth God's kingdom come;

Whoever look to far eternity, Or where imagination's folly flow, And dragging life as though they swallowed rum.

Bill Reported Favorably.

Washington, Feb. 4.—Senator Hoar, from the committee on the judiciary, yesterday reported favorably the bill to limit the meaning of the word "conspiracy" and the use of "restraining orders and injunctions" in certain cases. The bill provides that a combination to do an act or not to do it shall not be punished more severely than the act itself, and that combinations of this character between employers and employees engaged in interstate commerce shall not be considered in restraint of trade or commerce. The bill is intended to aid in adjusting labor disputes on railroads.

FAVORABLE REPORT ON WAR TAX REDUCTION.

Washington, Feb. 4.—The ways and means committee of the house, by unanimous vote, yesterday ordered a favorable report on the war tax reduction bill. A surprise occurred when Representative Babcock, Republican member, offered his bill largely reducing duties on the steel schedule and placing some articles on the free list, as an amendment to the tea repeal section. The amendment was defeated 6 to 7, Messrs. Babcock and Tawney and all the Democrats voting in the affirmative.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

AMERICA IS NEEDED,

Gov. Taft Says the Filipinos
Could Not Alone Govern Themselves.

OUR KNOWLEDGE IS NECESSARY.

Described the Condition of the Island
of Samar—Entered Upon a General
Narrative of the Work of the Commission.

Washington, Feb. 4.—Governor Taft yesterday continued his statement before the senate committee on the Philippines regarding the conditions existing in those islands.

Answering a question by Mr. Lodge, he described the condition of the island of Samar, where the people are still in insurrection, and said he was not prepared to state that this was not wholly subjected to Spanish rule. He then described the qualifications requisite for an election in the different towns where the commission had established governments. These were that such persons shall speak and write English or speak and write Spanish, or have filed a municipal office under Spanish rule, or that he shall pay $15 gold taxes a year.

General Taft then entered upon a general narrative of the work of the commission. When the commission arrived at Manila they found the people divided into three classes, those in favor of the exclusion of American sovereignty altogether, the Spanish party in favor of this government and a large body of ignorant people who were entirely indifferent.

He could assert without hesitation, he said, that lacking American initiative and American knowledge of how to carry on a government, any government there must be a complete failure.

In explanation of the obstacles to the complete tranquility of the islands, with the exception of Samar, Batangas and Laguna, he said that the lack of quarters for the troops, which was the cause of their being brought into close contact with the people, was the principal one, and he urged that such quarters be provided.

Governor Taft declared that the chief aim of the commission was the good of the Filipino people, and that they had constantly endeavored to gain their confidence. In this they had been successful, the people believing they will be given the best government possible and be secure in the enjoyment of their rights. He sought to prove the susceptibility of the Filipinos to kindness by the results achieved by the commission. It was not hard, he said, to explain the attitude of the Filipinos toward the army, because they could not be expected to love the instrument by which punishment is inflicted on them.

Governor Taft discussed at some length the different parties which had been formed in the Philippines. The federal party, he said, was the one which represented peace and influence.

The committee adjourned until today, when Governor Taft will continue his statement.

Spirited Debate in Senate.

Washington, Feb. 4.—Another spirited debate, with the Philippine tariff bill as the text, was precipitated in the senate yesterday as the result of some statements made by Mr. Carmack (Dem., Tenn.) in the course of an extended speech on the general Philippine question. It was the Tennessee senator's first speech in the senate and he was given notably good attention on both sides of the chamber. He spoke without manuscript, with earnestness, force and eloquence.

The Decay of Sentiment

By Bishop HENRY C. POTTER

HERE never was a day as hostile to sentiment as the day in which we live. THE TENDENCY IN OUR DAY IS TO ORGANIZATION, INSOLENT AND OVERWHELMING, THE ORGANIZATION OF LABOR AND CAPITAL AND OF RELIGION. Organization is fatal to sentiment. It has no place for emotion. It discards the person of Christ. The touch of the hand and that of the heart are needed by the heathen groping in darkness and by the people in our own land struggling toward the light.

At the conclusion of his address, which had been listened to by many of his former colleagues in the house of representatives, Mr. Beveridge (Ind.) challenged some of his statements. The debate which ensued was very lively for a few minutes, taking on a political phase, which proved particularly interesting to the auditors who crowded the floor as well as the galleries. Mr. Beveridge and Mr. Tillman (S. C.) became involved in a heated colloquy, in which the exchanges were as hot as both senators well could make them.

Prior to the taking up of the Philippine bill the measure providing for an increase in the salaries of United States judges was under discussion for an hour. In the course of the debate the case of Judge Arthur H. Noyes, of the district court of Alaska, was drawn upon to show why some judges should not be given the increase.

Babcock Caused Consternation.

Washington, Feb. 4.—There was consternation among the Republican members of the ways and means committee when Representative Babcock unexpectedly moved that his bill reducing the tariff in iron and steel products be made part of the war revenue repeal measure, and in that form reported to the house, with a recommendation that it pass.

Two Republican and two Democratic members of the committee were absent from the meeting, and when Mr. Babcock made his motion Chairman Payne did not know whether or not he could muster enough votes to defeat it. There was intense excitement in the committee for a few moments.

The chairman realized that a favorable report on the Babcock bill would involve the opening up of the whole subject of tariff revision in the house, with results one could forecast. More than this, it would be a defeat and humiliation for the managers. It nearly passed, but was finally defeated.

Oleomargarine Debate in House.

Washington, Feb. 4.—The house devoted yesterday to general debate on the oleomargarine bill. The opponents of the measure attempted to filibuster against it at the opening of the session, but were beaten by more than a two-thirds vote. The speakers were Messrs. Henry (Conn.), Haskins (Vt.) and Graft (Ills.), in favor of the measure, and Messrs. Wadsworth (N. Y.), Foster (Ills.), Burleson (Texas) and Clayton (Ala.), in opposition to it. Those who antagonized the bill favored the adoption of the substitute, which is designed to prevent the fraudulent sale of oleomargarine under the guise of butter.

Enough Money For Coronation Trip.

Washington, Feb. 4.—In response to inquiries the state department notified the senate committee on appropriations that the department would be able to make provision for the expenses of the representatives of this country in England incident to the coronation of King Edward VII from its own resources, and that, therefore, no special appropriation would be necessary for that purpose. The committee therefore did not make provision in the urgent deficiency bill which was reported to the senate for this item of expense, as it had agreed on Saturday last to do.

The committee also decided that the provision in the bill as it came from the house for $40,000 to be used by the president in meeting "unforeseen emergencies" would be sufficient to cover the expense of the government in connection with the approaching visit of Prince Henry, and no specific appropriation was made on that account.

War Tax Reports Filed.

Washington, Feb. 4.—Both majority and minority reports were filed on the war revenue repeal bill. The majority report says the probability of early withdrawal of troops from Cuba and the reduction of the force in the Philippines will make further reductions possible, and also reviews the condition of the treasury.

The minority report approves the proposed reductions, but asserts they should have been made long ago. It also advocates a general revision of taxes on accumulated wealth. There is a general denunciation of the Dingley law as the mother of trusts, and the report says that it enables manufacturers to charge far greater prices to home consumers than are received abroad for the same goods, which is characterized as "plain robbery."

ADDED SAFEGUARDS NEEDED.

So a Chinese Service Inspector Testified Before Committee.

Washington, Feb. 4.—J. R. Dunn, of the Chinese inspection service, stationed at San Francisco, was before the house committee on foreign affairs, explaining the difficulties encountered under the present exclusion law and the need of added safeguards such as are provided in the Mitchell-Kahn bill. Mr. Dunn also answered some of the criticisms made of alleged harsh treatment of the Chinese during their detention. He said the steamship companies provided detention houses at San Francisco, Port Townsend and other points, which were cleaner and better than the ordinary Chinese quarters.

Andrew Furuseth also continued his statement showing the favorable attitude of labor organizations toward the Mitchell-Kahn bill.

Will Take Up Temperance Work.

London, Feb. 4.—At a mass meeting held in Exeter hall last night General Booth, the leader of the Salvation Army, inaugurated a special temperance campaign as a feature of the work of the army during the present year. General Booth said he relied confidently upon the co-operation of saloonkeepers in this work, through their indicating the habitual drunkards, inasmuch as the supplying of habitual drunkards with liquor endangered the public's license, and that he intended to compile a drunkards' directory in each town and follow the habitual drunkards home and reform them there.

Appreciated by German Officials.

Washington, Feb. 4.—German embassy officials gave expression last night to the deep sense of appreciation they felt, which would be shared by Prince Henry on his arrival, at the large number of invitations extended to him to visit cities in many parts of the country and to accept the courtesies of numerous organizations. While the German officials are highly gratified at these many spontaneous evidences of good will, they regret that the brief stay of his royal highness in this country makes it imperative to restrict the program within certain definite limits heretofore announced, thus rendering it impossible to accept quite a number of the invitations which have been received.

Butler Officials Claim Reward.

The Butler officers served notice on the county commissioners while in the city that they claim the entire reward of $5,000 offered for the capture. It is not believed the commissioners will be in any hurry to pass upon the claim.

RATHER HOPEFUL SPIRIT SHOWN

By Professionals Among Stock Operators In the Market on Monday.

New York, Feb. 4.—The professional element among the stock operators showed a rather hopeful spirit Monday morning and started with some confidence to buy the transcontinental railroad stocks. The movement seemed to be based upon an assumption that the supreme court would hand down its decision Monday in the Northern Securities case, for within half an hour after the time for the sitting of the court the morning's gain in these stocks had been wiped out. The dealings in Southern Pacific were especially large and gave evidence of operations by a speculative pool. The buying of the stock is ostensibly based upon the expectation of an early refunding of large issues of bonds bearing a high rate of interest and which mature in the next few years. The financial district was flooded with very optimistic estimates of the current earnings of the road. The price was carried at one time 1 1/2 over Saturday, but it fared little better than the other Pacific in the reactionary movement and closed with a net gain of 3/4. There were very heavy dealings also in St. Paul and Union Pacific, but their gains were entirely wiped out. Efforts were made to revive the market by inaugurating a movement in the coals. Lackawanna spurted 1 1/4, very little stock coming out. Rumors were revived that the company's stock is to be doubled, with valuable rights to present holders. The dealings in Amalgamated Copper were on an enormous scale, the number of shares sold being about the largest for a single day in the history of the stock. It was under pressure throughout, with occasional rallies, and late in the day fell more than 3 points under Saturday, closing with a net loss of 2 1/2. Profit taking was an important element in the weakness of the stock, but there was a disposition to discredit recent rumors of a combination with other copper producers. The weakness of this stock did not affect the early rise in the transcontinentals, but its depressing influence gained force later in the day. The favorable statement of net earnings for December was responsible for strength in the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie stocks, the common rising 2 1/4 and the preferred 3/4, with final reactions of about a point.

Railroad bonds were moderately active and irregular. Total sales, par value, $4,245,000.

United States bonds were all unchanged on the last call.

CIRCULATION STATEMENT.

The sworn paid circulation of the EVENING NEWS REVIEW January 1, 1902, TWO THOUSAND TWO HUNDRED AND FIFTY (2,250).

A net gain since March 1, 1901, of ONE THOUSAND THREE HUNDRED AND SEVENTY-THREE (1,373) subscribers.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1902.

The News Review today presents its readers outline cuts, giving a very good idea of what the East Liverpool hospital will look like when completed. The Hospital association has encountered and overcome many obstacles that would have discouraged a less energetic body, and is still pegging away with grim determination that augurs complete success. Now is a good time for all who expect to help the institution to come forward and show what they propose to do. The association has money to start the work of building, but the early completion of that work and putting the institution in operation will depend upon the interest shown in the matter by the citizens of East Liverpool. For the credit of the city, the enterprise should receive substantial encouragement at every stage of its progress.

The will of the late John Moses was probated at Trenton Saturday. All of Mr. Moses' real and personal property was left to Mrs. Moses, excepting six bequests of $1,000 each, to six special legatees. Besides Mr. Moses' real property he left a $50,000 insurance policy which has been paid in full. There was another insurance policy of $50,000 which became due two years ago and was paid at that time.

General Grosvenor said in congress the other day that if Cuba were starving he would be willing to vote her $25,000,000. But Cuba is not starving, and should not be an object of charity. America has dealt liberally with Cuba, and will continue to do so. But there must be a limit even to our national generosity to the infant republic.

The senate had nearly a two-thirds majority against the proposition to increase the salaries of United States senators and representatives to $7,500 a year. There may be some congressmen whose services are worth that sum, but we notice that they are not among those who would like to be salary grabbers.

The move for increased salaries by state employees is not likely to be encouraged by the legislature. Nobody is compelled to hold a state job if he does not like the pay, and up to date there has been no difficulty in finding enough men for the places. Quite the contrary; there is always a surplus.

Complete peace in the Philippines is predicted by General Chaffee in a short time. It would have come sooner but for the noise made by American "antis," who, while professing to be the friends of the Filipinos, deluded them into resisting the government.

A Virginia jury has fixed the value of 200 sermons, which a minister lost on a railroad train, at $1.25 each. The value was estimated by a committee of clergymen, but it does not fix the value of all sermons.

The only kind of war that meets with Tillman's approval is a war of words. In conducting that sort of fighting he would soon rank as a major general save that he never wins a battle.

There will be balloon races worth seeing at the St. Louis exposition. A prize of $200,000 is to be offered, and Santos Dumont is to be there with a new airship.

There is one excellent thing about the snow. It temporarily puts the dirt in the streets out of sight.

What! an anti-trust movement in Germany? Must be some mistake.

about it. Haven't we heard a hundred times that there are no trusts save where Republican protection flourishes?

It will take more than Prince Henry's visit to promote American friendship for the German government, as long as the latter persists in hostile legislation against American products.

The month of January was productive of the greatest number of orders ever received by Trenton potteries in their history. The increase is fully 15 per cent over last January.

When Miss Stone is finally set free, she will have to make several public appearances to prove it.

James Petrie.

James Petrie, whose death was reported yesterday, was 78 years of age and single. He lived in Pittsburgh until about two years ago, when he came to the home of Mrs. Myler, in St. Clair township. He was a painter by trade and a veteran of the civil war. Mr. Petrie was a prominent Mason and a Knight Templar. He was a member of Post 3, G. A. R., in Pittsburgh, a member of Pittsburgh commandery No. 1, K. T., of Zerubbabel chapter, and Witner lodge, F. and A. M., also of Angerona lodge I. O. O. F., and an original member of the Duquesne Greys. He was also a member of the voluntary fire department of Pittsburgh and served on the first building committee to erect the first fire engine house in Pittsburgh. The Masons are to conduct the funeral.

George C. Surles.

George C. Surles, a brother of Postmaster W. H. Surles, of this city, died yesterday afternoon at his home in Beaver Falls. He was a contractor and prominent citizen of Beaver Falls. Mr. Surles was born in Steubenville in 1833 and had resided in Beaver Falls since 1872. He is survived by his wife and four sons, Basil, of Beaver Falls; Harry, of Sewickley; William F., of Indian Territory and Samuel, of Pittsburgh. He was a member of the Presbyterian church, the Odd Fellows and the Jr. O. U. A. M. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 3.

Postmaster Surles is the only surviving brother of the deceased. He arrived yesterday at the home of his brother just before the latter died.

Mrs. Kate Jones.

Mrs. Kate Jones, mother of Harry E. Jones, the well known traveling man, died at her home, 527 North McKinley avenue, Canton, last night. Mrs. Jones had been suffering with anemia for more than a year and her death was unexpected. Besides Harry E., one daughter, Miss Florence, is left to mourn her death.

HINDRANCES TO TRUE LIFE

Subject Aably Handled by Rev. W. E. Biederwolf—Excellent Music.

A large congregation was present last evening at the First Presbyterian church to hear Rev. W. E. Biederwolf and the musical director, Prof. Maxwell. Prof. Maxwell rendered with great effect "The Holy City."

Mr. Biederwolf's theme was "Hindrances," based on the text Luke 11: 52, "And them that were entering in, ye hindered." The sermon was heart-searching. He spoke of infidelity being a hindrance to many entering the kingdom. He showed the great evil the man is doing who tries to destroy the only hope which has been given for the salvation of the human soul, and not having something as good or better to substitute for it.

The speaker also told how Christians may be a hindrance to those entering the kingdom, (1) by their silence when a word had better been spoken, (2) by mistakes of the Christian, (3) by conformity to the world. Doubtless many Christians resolved they would remove everything from their lives which would be a hindrance to those who would enter the kingdom.

The woman's prayer service began today at 2 p. m. and was followed by the general service, led by Rev. Mr. Biederwolf and Prof. Maxwell at 2:30 o'clock.

Girl Student Committed Suicide.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 4.—Miss Agnes Inglis, a sophomore student in the medical department of the University of Michigan, committed suicide here. She is a daughter of Dr. David Inglis, a prominent physician of Detroit. The young woman was an unusually bright and promising student, and had already made a name for herself among her professors. She was prominent in athletics, being coach of the freshmen basketball team, and taking great interest in gymnasium work. No motive for the deed has been discovered, but it is known that she was subject to attacks of great mental depression.

Carpenters are authority for the announcement that other extensive improvements will be made to the Laughlin pottery as soon as the No. 3 plant is completed. Although the question has frequently been asked when the present contract was expected to be completed, no one has ventured an answer. Even now the original plans for No. 3 have been changed, so far as the warehouse is concerned. In the original drawing it was the intention to make the warehouse two stories, but the company decided it would be better to have this part of the plant three stories, and the change was ordered. Rumor is now current that even a fourth story is considered. It would not be surprising to see, before the summer is over, another large addition under course of construction, to the number 3 addition.

The next meeting of warehouse women's local No. 7606, Federation of Labor, which will be held Thursday evening in the K. O. T. M. hall on Washington street, gives promise of being the most important held in months. On this occasion the officers elected to weeks ago will be installed, and at the same time the local will be admitted to membership in the N. B. of O. P. This will be an important event in the history of this local. Many new members are expected to be received into the local at this session, as it has been proposed to increase the initiation fee at once. This local will likely be the first to receive one of the new charters, just received by Secretary Duffy.

It was decided by the handymen's apprentices Saturday evening to become affiliated with the N. B. of O. P. and arrangements with that end in view are being formulated. Those who propose to become members of the new local are contributing funds at each meeting, to be used to obtain a charter, about $21 being required. It is said the desire of the apprentices is to have representation at the next annual convention of the Brotherhood.

T. C. Cook, of the Cook & Lawrence Crockery company, Racine, Wis., was in the city yesterday placing orders.

Being rushed with orders for decorated ware the Laughlin Pottery company at their No. 2 plant had many decorators working very late last night. This will continue until the rush is over. Several printers were unable to work here yesterday on account of the shortage of gas.

The annual banquet of the crockery jobbers of the United States was held at New York last night. The affair was a most elaborate one and was attended by two persons identified with the pottery industry from this city. They were Benjamin Harker and Charles Aarons, of the Laughlin company.

The many friends of Walter Bettridge, of Walnut street, a dipper at the Smith & McNicol pottery at Wells-ville, will be sorry to hear of his serious illness. He is suffering from an attack of lead colic and neuralgia of the stomach. His condition is considered critical.

While all departments of the Globe pottery are running, the firm is not rushing matters much. Very little stock is on hand at this plant, and with the exception of last Wednesday the plant has been in steady operation since the first of the year.

A local of the employees of the Thomas pottery at Lisbon will be formed soon. Transfer cards for these workmen are being issued from their former organizations and it is thought the local will be formed within two weeks.

Oliver Barker, a kilndrawer at the D. E. McNicol pottery, who was married Sunday evening, was seriously injured this morning. He was drawing kiln, when a sagger fell on his head, inflicting a deep cut, requiring three stitches.

The National pottery resumed operations in full yesterday. The plant was compelled to shut down partially

Saturday on account of two tubes in the larger boiler leaking. The necessary repairs were made Saturday.

Richard Salt, a native of England, who has been employed at the National, received news last week of the death of his wife in England. He came here a few months ago and was about to send for his wife.

Harry Stoddard will take the management of the mold shop in the Laughlin No. 3 plant. Mr. Stoddard will be succeeded at Laughlin No. 1 by Harry Jackson, who is now employed at No. 2.

The East Liverpool Potteries company will soon place a 154-piece dinner set on the market. The company will dispense with the "Progress" shape, one of its most successful designs.

Ben Toland, of the Golding flint mill, is off duty on account of an injury sustained a few days ago. He was handling coal when a heavy lump fell on his foot, mashing a toe.

At a meeting of turners' and handlers' local No. 10 last evening a committee was appointed to prepare a program for a smoker to be given in three weeks.

Three warehousemen at the Laughlin plant have resigned. One of the number will enter an eastern business college within the next few weeks.

President Hughes went to East Palestine today, where he will address a meeting of No. 31 this evening. He will return tomorrow.

President George C. Murphy, of the East Liverpool Potteries company, left yesterday afternoon for a business trip through the east.

W. A. Young, a buyer from Portland, Me., was in the city yesterday, placing business with the Goodwin Pottery company.

Jiggermen's local No. 12 will meet this evening. Some important business is to be considered.

John McClure, a printer, formerly employed at the Klondike, has taken a position at the Globe.

Carpenters are making new benches for the decorating department of the Laughlin pottery No. 2.

Charles McPherson, formerly kilnman at the Standard, has gone to Thompson's.

The Laughlin company shipped a car load of decorated ware to El Paso, Tex., today.

The National Pottery company is rushed with orders for decorated ware.

WELLSVILLE

MORE PAVING IS AUTHORIZED

Wellsville Council Passes Resolutions For Two Quite Extensive Improvements.

Because of Acts That Do Not Suit Council—Crossings to Be Kept Clear—Gas Company Also Incurs the Displeasure of the Solons.

Numerous resolutions were passed by the Wellsville council at the meeting last evening. As a result two more streets will be extensively improved and the city will be indebted to the Silver Banking company for $12,200, which money is to be used in payment for the paving of Maple alley, Liverpool street and Fourth street.

Water street from Third to Ninth street will be paved and otherwise improved, but a part of the expense will fall to the lot of the C. & P. Railroad company. The street is 60 feet wide and only 26 feet of it will be paved by the city. The asphalt paving will be used. It is understood that the railroad company has agreed to plant a row of trees along this street and transform its part into a beautiful lawn.

A petition from residents on Highland avenue, asking that that thoroughfare be paved, was readily accepted by council and the city engineer was ordered to at once make the plans and specifications for the work.

A. J. Brennan, chairman of a committee appointed at the last meeting to confer with the Ft. Pitt Gas company in regard to furnishing the city a specified amount of gas free of charge, submitted a communication from the company. From it council learned that the only way the city building will ever be heated and lighted by gas will be for the city to pay for it at nearly the same rate charged individual citizens. Council was not pleased, and the committee was ordered continued empowered to employ all necessary help in finding the exact condition of the franchise under which the company is governed. It is thought that steps may be taken to have the franchise revoked if the request is not granted.

A communication from Judge P. M. Smith stated that he would be compelled to give up the proposed laying of a railroad track from the depot down to the West End potteries, owing to certain demands of the C. & P. company. The proposed track would prove very beneficial to Wellsville.

Council did not like the stand taken by the railroad and ordered that the police be instructed to keep the crossing at Eighteenth street clear at all times. This will cause the company much inconvenience. The company will also be ordered to open a crossing at Twenty-first street.

The Holliday heirs, through their attorney, Judge Smith, notified council that they will accept $300 for the damage done their property on Third street due to the change in the street grade. No action was taken.

Messrs. A. R. and E. H. Wells, who intend to erect six new dwelling houses on Liverpool street, near the steel mill, presented a petition to council stating that it will be impossible for them to erect the houses until a grade is set for the street and sidewalk. Engineer Leith was instructed to set the grades and the grades and the street commissioner was ordered to make the necessary filling.

J. T. French, chairman of the Columbiana county commissioners, in a communication, stated the commissioners will meet council in conference in regard to raising the Lisbon bridge.

Mr. Donaldson stated that the residents of the West End are very desirous of having two lights placed near the brick yards. Council seemed to think that the street railway company will be compelled to place the lights when the road is extended and action was deferred.

Rinehart Bros., of East Liverpool, were awarded the contract for paving Liverpool street. They agree to have the work completed by June 1. E. A. Freshwater, of Penrith, W. Va., was the lowest bidder for the paving of Maple alley, but was not awarded the contract, owing to not promising to use Wellsville brick. He will be given a chance to make the promise.

The street committee was ordered to have a gas lamp erected at Eighteenth and Front streets. Bills aggregating $1,500 were ordered paid and bills to the amount of $1,900 were held over. Mayor Dennis reported $116.80 as collections for fines imposed in January.

Mayor Dennis was requested by council to represent the city at the meeting of the League of Municipalities in Columbus this week and will attend.

Council adjourned to meet again tonight.

J. D. HARRIS RESIGNS

J. H. Bishop Succeeds Him As Master Mechanic at C. & P. Shops.

J. H. Bishop arrived yesterday from Ft. Wayne, Ind., and immediately assumed charge of the C. & P. shops in the capacity of master mechanic. He succeeded J. D. Harris, who resigned Saturday and who will leave tomorrow for Baltimore, to accept a similar but more profitable position with the B. & O.

Mr. Harris was the master mechanic in the C. & P. shops here for two years, coming to this city from Crestline. His many friends among the employees of the shops presented him with an elegant gold watch yesterday as a token of their high respect for him.

Charles Hall, assistant foreman of the machine department, was chosen to make the presentation speech and did so in an admirable manner.

Mr. Harris, upon accepting the gift, thanked his fellow laborers in a feeling way and expressed his regrets for being called upon to change his location.

BLAZE IN A STORE

A Serious Fire Averted By the Prompt Use of a Little Water.

There came near being a destructive fire in J. J. Dowling's dry goods store early last evening, the result of a red hot stove pipe coming in contact with the basement boards on the first floor. Luckily the clerks had not left the store and upon seeing the danger sent in a still alarm to central station.

Mr. Dowling and Fire Chief Lownds were at the station and promptly answered the call. By the application of a bucket of water the fire was extinguished and the loss entailed was very little.

Sold Out Their Business.

Messrs. Hopton and Evans, proprietors for several years of the stationery and novelty store located on Main street, below Fifth street, yesterday sold out their stock and business to J. R. Blackburn, of Jackson county, W. Va., and M. E. Blackburn, of this city. The new firm will be known as Blackburn & Blackburn. Messrs. Hopton and Evans will likely move to Donora, Pa., and open a store.

Mashed His Hand.

William Armstrong, an employee of the shops, is off duty owing to an accident which occurred to him Saturday. A heavy board fell on his right hand and mashed it slightly. He will be laid off for several days.

SOUTH SIDE

BOILER EXPLOSION

HURLED THE ENGINEER BACKWARD FOR 20 FEET.

He Escaped With Slight Injuries. Boiler Was Completely Wrecked.

A terrific boiler explosion occurred yesterday morning at the entrance of R. D. Stewart's coal bank near Hookstown. How Engineer James Laughlin escaped with his life is inexplicable. He was standing directly in front of the boiler and received the full force of the explosion about his head and breast. Although he was knocked backwards a distance of 200 feet he was not rendered unconscious, nor was he badly hurt, his face being but slightly scalded and his breast receiving minor bruises.

The boiler was completely wrecked. No plausible reason could be learned as to the origin of the accident.

BODIES WERE ON EXHIBITION.

Harry Biddle Reluctantly Allowed the Morbid and Curious to View Them. Butler Officials Claim Reward. Pittsburg Officers Get Even.

Pittsburg, Feb. 4.—The bodies of the notorious and daring pair of burglars and murderers were buried today. They were brought to Pittsburg from Butler yesterday.

Before the bodies went to their last resting place the morbidly curious were given a chance to look upon them. From 9 o'clock until noon today they were on exhibition at the Beinhauer mortuary, South Side. This concession was made by their brother, Harry G. Biddle, with great reluctance, and at the request of many South Side people who visited the undertaking establishment after they were received there yesterday. Funeral services were held at the cathedral this morning and the interment later.

The unpleasantness between Pittsburg detectives and the Butler county officers who participated in the capture of the Biddles continued until the bodies were received at the county morgue, Eighth street, yesterday morning. The fear of the Butler officers that they would be cheated out of a share in the reward offered by the county commissioners inspired some of them to come to Pittsburg.

They refused to desert the bodies after they were taken from the train and one of them climbed upon the morgue wagon. From this position he was pulled by Pittsburgers, there-

Following is the claim filed by the Butler officers:

Pittsburg Officers Got Even.

State of Pennsylvania, Butler county, ss.

Before the clerk of the court of quarter sessions of said county, personally came J. R. Hoon, Robert Ray, Frank Holliday and A. E. Thompson, who, being duly sworn according to law, do depose and say, that on Friday morning, Jan. 31, affiants started in pursuit of Edward and John Biddle, two prisoners who had escaped from the jail of Allegheny county, and who had passed through Butler borough at about 11 o'clock a. m., aforesaid day, traveling in an easterly direction.

That they, affiants, pursued said Biddles after they had turned in a westerly direction and followed them west on the Butler and Prospect road and at Prospect said J. R. Hoon received a telephone message from Mt. Chestnut stating that the Biddle brothers had started from there on the Prospect road. That your affiants in one sled and three Pittsburg detectives with a driver in another sled then started back toward Mt. Chestnut and met the Biddles on the road about midway between Prospect and Mt. Chestnut.

That affiants and the Pittsburg detectives all got out of the sleds and after an exchange of shots and a desperate resistance on the part of the Biddles they were shot down and captured; that J. R. Hoon was the first man to touch the prisoners and he put the handcuffs on Edward Biddle and the prisoners were then put in a sled and brought to the Butler jail.

Your affiants further state that they were not in the employ of the Pittsburg detectives, but were acting in the matter independently of them, and that J. R. Hoon is the deputy sheriff of Butler county, and that they did not see the detectives or know of them until they met at Prospect, a few minutes prior to the capture.

Your affiants believe they are entitled to a fair share of the five thou-

Birds Are Like Human Beings.

Canaries, like human beings, vary very much in character, some cocks being so indifferent and idle that they will let the hen do all the work of building and rearing, while they themselves sit and plume their feathers. Others, again, are perfect gentlemen in their manners, waiting on the hen with a quiet courtesy and seeing that all she requires is at once brought to her. Again, the hens vary in disposition, some hens behaving in a quiet, modest way, attending to their young ones with regularity, while others are in a constant state of chatter with their husbands, pecking and arguing with them every time they go near. Thus we see that these little birds have their tiffs and domestic quarrels, not unlike ourselves.—Chambers' Journal.

 "What can I do for you, doctor?" he asked in the tone of one who has ceased to expect good from any interview.

"Miss Miller, who is my patient at the hospital, wishes to see you," said Kendall, "and I called to ask you to come over."
 "I hope a consultation isn't necessary," said Blair, with a faint smile. "I understood that her recovery was assured."
 "It is in regard to Miss MacLane," responded Kendall, with considerable embarrassment.

Blair faintly groaned.
 "I wish I had kept my mouth shut," he said. "Of course if I can do anything to please Miss Miller," he added hastily, "I shall be delighted. I know her slightly, and she is a very charming girl. But really this matter of Miss MacLane is wearing my life out. Policemen, reporters, unidentified vagabonds—"
 "And, last of all, a doctor," added Kendall.

"Have worried the flesh off my bones," continued Blair without noticing the interruption. "They insist that I shall identify Miss MacLane as the woman I saw. They present threats and bribes. They offer all sorts of ridiculous plans for bringing Miss MacLane and me together so that I may be sure of her. But I have seen Miss MacLane already, and I have said all that I have to say upon the subject."
 "You have not said that she was not the woman," suggested Kendall.

"No, and I won't," responded Blair promptly. "Why should I?"
 "Unless you are sure," said Kendall, "you may feel like delaying a final statement, but I can't help thinking that your course takes little account of Miss MacLane's welfare; I might almost say of her rights. However, I must not get excited about it."
 "You seem to take a considerable interest," said Blair. "You have known Miss MacLane for some years, I am told. But that is none of my business. What does Miss Miller wish me to do?"
 "She believes that she can convince you that Miss MacLane is not the woman you saw," replied Kendall.

Blair was silent for some moments.
 "I don't see how that is possible," he said at last, "but I would be very glad to oblige her, or you, if I could. There is, however, such a thing as the truth, you know."
 Kendall was beginning to feel painfully anxious. There seemed to be a strong probability that Blair was perfectly convinced in regard to this matter of identity and that he was reserving his statement until the nature of the case should disclose itself. If Elsie should die, there was little chance that a man of Blair's type would withhold his evidence, for in that event somebody would be directly accused, and a just person would feel that all the evidence should be brought forward. Blair's present position was such that Kendall did not know how to attack it, and so he fell back upon the matter of

 Having received this promise, Kendall returned at once and notified Elsie of the approaching visit. Her manner was very significant. She was evidently bracing herself for a considerable ordeal. There could be no doubt that she had determined to save Brenda from the annoyance to which she was being subjected and from the much more serious trouble that might follow. As she had expressed a wish to speak with Dr. Blair a few minutes alone there could be but one inference—she intended to tell him something which she had withheld up to that time. As Blair was the first physician who had been called to attend her she could claim the right of a patient and put him upon his professional honor not to disclose what she might say. Indeed, certain questions which she asked made Kendall sure that she had considered this phase of the situation. It was possible that she might intend to go to the length of confiding to Blair the actual facts of the case, for by naming the author of the crime she could most surely relieve Brenda from any further suspicion. Even upon the supposition that Brenda had really gone to that house and had been seen by Blair he would probably consent to shield her from offensive publicity if he knew her to be entirely innocent.

Kendall was conscious of a strange, boyish feeling of discontent that Elsie should not have chosen him as the recipient of this confidence. He could understand that there might be reasons why she should tell Brenda everything, and, as to that, indeed, he had no positive knowledge that she had not already done so. Moreover, to have told him would have been merely to let another person into the secret, whatever it might be, since it was not he, but Blair, who had the power to check the attacks upon Brenda. Still, he could not help feeling isolated, the more because of his reflection that Brenda might already know all.
 From this youthful frame of mind he passed to one more mature and practical. It might be that Blair was not worthy of this confidence. Without pretending to know what Elsie's secret might be, Kendall surely did not wish it to be betrayed. All consideration of abstract justice had vanished in personal interest. He was for Elsie with a genuine loyalty, and Blair had not impressed him favorably. He seemed a morose and discontented man, with an unsatisfied craving for something, probably money, and he had not a perfectly honest eye. Supposing that Elsie's secret involved Alden and that Alden had really become rich in a way invisible to his closest friends—well, in that case it might be that Dr. Blair would be able to afford a better office.

With these thoughts in mind Kendall ventured to caution Elsie against the evils incident to an unwise trust in the discretion and the promises of one's fellow creatures, but Elsie seemed to have an excellent opinion of her own good judgment, as often happens with the young.
 When Blair appeared, Kendall mentioned to him that Elsie desired to see him alone for a few minutes, adding,

"I was not aware you made it a matter of conscience."
 "She seems to have some communication which is in the highest degree confidential,"
 "I shall treat whatever she says as a matter between doctor and patient," replied Blair, somewhat too promptly, as Kendall thought.
 Nothing of importance occurred during the time when Brenda and Kendall were present with Blair in Elsie's room. It might have been one of the doctor's regular professional calls.
 The private conference lasted not more than five minutes, and it produced no very notable effect upon Elsie, but Dr. Blair seemed to have received a considerable surprise. Kendall was far from satisfied with the man's looks. He was not only agitated, but he had the air of one who is both scared and pleased, like a man who sees an opportunity the nature of which both attracts and frightens him. And the thought came to Kendall that this secret might affect Brenda, whose father was very weak in the nerves and very strong in the pocket.
 On the face of the matter, however, it appeared that Elsie had achieved a notable success, for Blair said to Brenda:

 "Miss Miller tells me that you are much disturbed by the absurd attempts to identify you with the so-called 'mysterious woman' in this unfortunate affair. I think I can put a stop to these stories."
 "Was it for that that she asked you to come here?" demanded Brenda, who, by Elsie's request, had not been informed in advance of this attempt.
 "Oh, no; it was merely incidental," replied Blair, "and my conclusion depends partly upon my having seen you again. Your word should, of course, have been enough for me, but I have not taken a proper view of the seriousness of the matter. I shall now state positively that you are not the lady I saw."
 "I would prefer that you say nothing at all," said Brenda after a brief interval of reflection.
 Blair showed his surprise.
 "I do not understand," he said. "Surely you wish me to speak the truth?"
 "I was not aware that you made it a matter of conscience," replied Brenda, slightly inclining her head by way of dismissal to Blair, who was upon the point of leaving the room.

CHAPTER XIV.
 "THIEF, HORATIO, THIEF."
 THE next morning's papers contained interviews with Dr. Blair in which he stated in the most positive manner that the mysterious woman was not Miss MacLane. This did not have the effect of taking Brenda entirely out of print, but it inspired all the newspaper writers with caution, for, though some of them were not able to believe that Blair was telling the truth, it was impossible to overlook the fact that he was the only witness.
 The most serious of the immediate results of this publication was experienced by Dr. Blair himself about 10 o'clock in the forenoon, when he received a call from Captain Neale. The captain seemed not to be representing the department upon this occasion, for he was in the dress of a private citizen. Even his shoes were different from a policeman's characteristic footwear. As the apparel evidently was not worn for purposes of disguise, it might be assumed that Mr. Neale had come upon a personal errand.
 When admitted to Dr. Blair's office, he first showed interest in all the doors opening from the room; then he bestowed a moment's attention upon some of the doctor's effects which had been collected as if to be packed in a large trunk.
 "Going away?" inquired Neale.
 "Move," responded Blair.
 "What for?"
 "You've succeeded in spoiling my practice around here," was the reply. "I am not more modest than other doctors, but the kind of conspicuousness which comes from having a uniformed policeman call at the house every ten minutes is not a good advertisement. So I have engaged other quarters."
 "Where?"
 "I would like to tell you that it's none of your business," said Blair, "but that wouldn't prevent you from finding out. I'm going up town."
 And he gave the address, which the captain ostentatiously noted down. Having done this, he looked Blair in the eye and said:
 "I don't know whether you're going or not."
 "Make your mind easy," replied the doctor. "I am."
 "You're an important witness in this case," said the captain, "and I want you where I can get my hands on you."
 "Well, I'm not going far."
 The captain screwed up his queer eyebrows in his own peculiar fashion. "It's my opinion," said he, "that you're going to the house of detention." Blair looked uneasy, but he mustered a smile.

Present Era of Prosperity Seems to Be Assured

By JAMES H. ECKELS, President of the Commercial National Bank of Chicago and Formerly Comptroller of the Currency

HE continuance of the present era of prosperity, it seems to me, is assured. I do not look for any recession, but, on the contrary, an advance toward still better general conditions and greater stability. The export trade of the country may be less in certain lines, but trade at home will show a better volume. The internal trade throughout the whole west was never more promising, the basis of it all being free from elements of speculation. I think that at no time have those engaged in commercial trade been so well equipped to liquidate, without either loss or hardship, their liabilities.

THE MOST ENCOURAGING FEATURE OF OUR INDUSTRIAL SITUATION IS THE RAPIDLY ADVANCING COMPLETENESS OF DETAIL IN ORGANIZATION, THE GROWING INTRODUCTION OF ECONOMIES IN MANAGEMENT, MANUFACTURE AND DISTRIBUTION AND THE MORE PERFECT COMMUNITY OF INTEREST BETWEEN THE GREAT INDUSTRIAL CORPORATIONS AND THE CORPORATIONS CONTROLLING TRANSPORTATION FACILITIES.

To all of these advantages must be added the still greater one of larger capital employed, oneness of policy, the best modern machinery, the largest amount of available cheap raw material and the best character of workmen.

The following expression of gratitude ought to interest every person in this city, particularly the women. It is an open letter from Mrs. G. G. Hildreth of Worcester Mass.:

"It gives me great pleasure to testify to the phenomenal success that I have had with Blood Wine. For some time I was all run down. Had a dragged out feeling. Couldn't sleep. Was losing flesh and my appetite. I felt overworked, yet didn't do anything. My color was all gone, and my cheeks had a faded, sickly appearance, that made my friends all tell me I was going to die. Yes, I believe I really was in a decline, for I was a mere shadow, and the world seemed to hold no hope for me. I was sad, melancholy, and cried a great deal. I spent all the money I could on doctors, and got no relief. One day I went to the proprietors of 'Blood Wine' and told my story. I asked if they could help me, and they told me to call again in three days. This I did, and they encouraged me, and gave me two bottles of medicine, which I took and felt relief at once. I continued the treatment, and one by one the different symptoms disappeared. I have just reached the point where I feel entirely well, and will continue the medicine. I am now a stout, healthy woman (as my picture will indicate) and owe it all—my life—to 'Blood Wine.' It is the greatest thing I ever saw, and no woman (or man either) should be without it in the house. I will gladly substantiate this statement in a personal letter to any one interested."
 Try "Blood Wine" today. "Blood Wine" contains no wine or opiates, — just powerful medicines, many of which are new to medical science. "Blood Wine" costs fifty cents a bottle, but you can sample it free of charge at Will Reed's and Hodson's drug-stores.

"The house of detention is for the poor," he said. "It is for people who will stand being imprisoned six months or a year for nothing without making any fuss about it."
 Blair let the lid of the trunk fall heavily and then sat down on top of it.
 "Well, you needn't tell me what it is," he said. "I'll take your word for it that it's a good one. In short, you intend to ruin me in this town."
 The captain put his hand into his pocket in a way that made Blair nervous, but it was nothing more formidable than a piece of chewing tobacco that appeared. Neale nodded slowly as he bit off a piece.

"From the beginning of this case," said the doctor, "I have been totally unable to understand your game. What is it?"
 "My game," replied the captain, "is to take good care of Joseph Neale."
 "Well," said Blair, "what have I done to prevent it?"
 "Ever hear the story of the beggar who asked the professional charity man for a dime?"
 "I don't remember it," said the doctor.

"The charity man said: 'Go over on the other side of the street. I'm working this side.'"
 Blair appeared to ponder deeply upon the significance of this ancient tale in the present situation.

 And Mr. Hixson, mortified, grew very red.—Brooklyn Life.

Question Answered.
 Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for indigestion or biliousness. Doctors were scarce and they seldom heard of appendicitis, nervous prostration or heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop formation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. Your only need a few does of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. You can get Dr. G. G. Green's reliable remedies at Charles F. SAILORS LOSE LIVES.

Bodies From Unknown Craft Washed Ashore on Long Island Shore.

FURIOUS GALE ALONG COAST.

New York, Feb. 4.—The gale which had been sweeping the coasts of Long Island and New Jersey for more than 24 hours previous was continuing last night, though with abated force. It had brought death and disaster to sailors and their craft. Reports of loss of life are confirmed to the eastward end of Long Island, whence comes news that several bodies have been washed ashore. It was not known up to 10 o'clock last night what vessels the men who lost their lives came from. They might have been on either the barges towed by the tug Richmond, reported as missing, without town, Block Island, bound from New York for Newport, R. I., or the tug Cuba, which passed Block Island two hours later, which left New London, Conn., Sunday for Newport News, and was returning without tow. When leaving port the Richmond had three barges and the Cuba two. Wreckage strewn the shore in the vicinity of the Bellport, L. I. life saving station, and one body came ashore east of this station. One barge was crashing about the ship near Forge River station. The finding of two other bodies was reported later from the same point. The largest piece of wreckage is the after quarter and a portion of the stern of a barge. On this last were the letters "O. P. E."

The crew of the American merchantman Schepp, a full rigged ship, which went ashore on Long Beach, L. I., early yesterday, were in peril all day yesterday. Late reports last night said they were still on the stranded vessel, though the danger of death had been lessened owing to the slight abatement of the storm. The life savers of Captain Rhoades station and those of Long Beach station, under Captain Van Wicklen, made several attempts to shoot the life lines over the Schepp, but the efforts were not successful. Then they tried to launch the life boat, but this, too, proved impossible owing to the high seas.

The crews of seven men each of the sea-going tugs John E. Berwind and E. S. Atwood had a very narrow escape from going to the bottom with their craft Sunday afternoon. Nothing was known of their plight until the arrival Monday of the German steamer Barcelona, the crew of which rescued the tug men. Within half an hour after this the two tugs went to the bottom with the dunnage of the men.

Philadelphia, Feb. 4.—The wind storm which began Sunday afternoon, and reached a velocity of 50 miles along the Southern New Jersey coast and in the vicinity of the Delaware breakwater, greatly diminished, and last night was blowing at a rate of about 20 miles an hour. Reports from the South Jersey coast and Delaware river points indicated that vessels that were exposed to the gale weathered the storm fairly well. Two vessels were ashore on Brigantine Island, a short distance north of Atlantic City, N. J., and two steamers were reported aground in Delaware bay, about 50 miles below this city.

INDIGNATION EXPRESSED.

London Paper Condemns Women For Visiting Chinese Empress. London, Feb. 4.—Commenting on the reception, Saturday last, of the wives and children of the members of the diplomatic corps at Peking, by the dowager empress, the emperor and empress, The Globe wrathfully remarks that it was humiliating to every European and American, and

DON'T OVERLOOK THIS

A Careful Perusal Will Prove Its Value to Every East Liver- pool Reader. The average man is a doubter, and there is little wonder that this is so. Misrepresentations make people skeptical. Now-days the public ask for better evidence than the testimony of strangers. Hear proof that should convince every East Liverpool reader. Mr. Samuel Mayer, who is an employee of the McNicol pottery, whose place of residence is 183 Bank street, says: "My health was fairly good until my kidneys began to trouble me, causing my back to ache a good part of the time and to get sore and lame across the loins. The pain was often sharp and penetrating, especially when stooping or lifting, and I never got rid of the trouble until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at the W. & W. pharmacy and tried them. When I had taken one box the soreness and pains in the back and other symptoms of kidney distress passed away." Sold for 50 cents per box by all dealers. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name, Doan's, and take no other. Sold by W. & W. Pharmacy.

WHERE IS THE TARDY LOVER?

expresses indignation at the fact that the ministers "permitted their wives and children to be degraded by bowing to the infamous woman and receiving decorations from her blood-stained hands," adding: "The necklace the dowager empress placed on Madame Conger should have been spurned as the gift of murderers chargeable with the torture and death of American Christian women. The ladies were not primarily to blame, but an unpardonable fault rests with the diplomatists who allowed the cruel indignity. The ladies will be represented as having performed kow tow to the usurping tyrant, and a day of regret will assuredly come."

SIXTEEN RECOVERED ALIVE.

Eighteen Mexican Miners Still Missing and 34 Bodies Have Been Recovered.

Eagle Pass, Texas, Feb. 4.—Eighty-four bodies and 16 men, barely alive, some of them horribly mangled, have been taken from the Honda mines. The foul odor from the mines caused the search for the bodies to be temporarily discontinued, but disinfectants arrived, and the work will be resumed. The shaft had 118 men enrolled, and 18 are still missing. Twenty-five head of dead mules have been taken from the shaft. The damage to the property is very great. The company has obtained all the physicians and nurses that can be secured from all points and is doing everything possible to save any of the miners who may be still alive. The scene at the opening of the mine was horrible. Wives, mothers and children of the dead and mangled men who perished in the explosion were screaming and crying and they refused to leave the scene.

CRASHED THROUGH TRESTLE.

Wheeling, W. Va., Feb. 4.—Two dead and three badly injured is the result of a train going through a trestle on the Gauley railroad near Perry's siding.

THE DEAD.

The engine and several cars of the freight train crashed through the trestle to the ground, many feet below. A special train was dispatched to the scene of the wreck from Weston, with railroad surgeons. Engineer Nute leaves a wife. Fireman Ward was unmarried.

TWO DIED OF STARVATION.

Two Others Insane From Cold and Privation.

Philadelphia, Feb. 4.—A pitiful story of destitution came to light here yesterday, when the coroner was notified of the death of Mrs. Mary Wright, aged 82 years, and her son Joseph, aged 30 years, at their home in the outskirts of the city. The aged woman and the young man had died of starvation, and two other members of the family, Jane and Wycliff, both middle aged, were found to be insane and suffering from cold and privation. Little is known of the Wright family. Mrs. Wright's husband died some time ago. It became known that the mother had succumbed Sunday night to neglect and lack of nourishment, and when Joseph Wright was informed of her death the shock, added to his weakened condition, resulted in his death. Jane and Wycliff, the two remaining members of the family, are in a pitiable state and are now being cared for by neighbors.

TEACHERS AIDED PROMPTLY.

Heroic Work Prevented Panic In Earning School.

Toledo, O., Feb. 4.—But for the prompt and heroic action of the teachers of the Nebraska avenue school there would certainly have been a heavy loss of life among the pupils. A short time prior to the time to begin the morning session of school broke out in one of the school rooms and within a few moments the building was filled with smoke. The children were at first horror-stricken, but the principal gave the fire signals, and the children, 250 in number, at once fell into line and marched from the burning building in perfect order. The children have been taking fire drills for several years. The fire started from an overheated furnace, and the loss was about $10,000.

England Has Declined. London, Feb. 4.—Writing from The Hague, the correspondent of The Daily Mail says that the reply of Great Britain to the Dutch note concerning peace in South Africa is a polite refusal of the request that permission be granted for a commission to proceed to South Africa.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

HAD A BRIEF BUT BUSINESS-LIKE SESSION.

Supt. Rayman's Report Explains Some Matters Which Parents Cannot Understand.

A 20-minute session of the board of education was held last evening. Only four members were present. As has been the custom of this board, business was rushed through in order that some members might attend a revival service. The members did not take time to come into the directors' room, and the meeting was held in the office of Supt. Rayman.

The election of B. C. Simms as a school examiner for a term of three years was the first matter considered, after which Clerk W. C. Hill was instructed to notify the Ft. Pitt Gas company that if they did not furnish more gas to the Horace Mann building, in Helena, the board would take measures to get gas from another source.

The following bills were ordered paid: William Strauss, $1.50; Wilson Stationery company, $34.10; Myler Brothers, $38.02; Robert Hall, 60 cents; Vodrey Pottery company, $2.50; Watson & Sloan, $1.40; Pennsylvania company, 57 cents; Ft. Pitt Gas company, $81.60; Ohio Valley Gas company, $286.65; Ceramic City Light company, $7.40; Hill & Wallace, $4.30.

Supt. Rayman's report for the past month showed the average daily attendance in the high school to be 73 males and 130 females. On the honor roll were 35 males and 68 females. The grand total showed an enrollment of 1,484 males and 1,534 females for the month, with an average daily attendance of 1,361 males and 1,399 females. The honor roll was 499 males and 507 females.

Many children in the lower grades are given to staying out of school at the least sign of bad weather. In this way they lose valuable time and miss lessons. Then eventually they fail to complete the year's work and their parents cannot understand why they are detained in the same grade another year.

The common schools are divided into grades so that the pupils may have an opportunity to advance as they acquire more knowledge. If, therefore, they are absent, they do not do the required work, and hence cannot be promoted. Careful investigation shows that where pupils are regular in their attendance, 90 per cent of them make their promotions at the end of the year.

The teachers and all interested in the schools are especially anxious to have all pupils regular in attendance, because so much depends upon the first and second year's work. A good start here, as a rule, means superior work in the grades following. "The destiny of nation depends upon primary schools."

PROBATE MATTERS

Administratrix Authorized to Settle With Railroad For Husband's Death For $3,250.

Lisbon, February 4.—(Special)—The testimony of Henry S. Winsper and Harry S. Scholl has been received and the will of Lawrence Naughton, late of Unity township, admitted to probate. William Naughton has been appointed administrator.

The will of the late Richard McSweeney, of Wellsville, has been admitted to probate. Margaret Broderick is administratrix.

The Bankers' Surety company, of Cleveland, has been authorized by the probate court to transact business in Columbiana county with W. H. Hepburn as agent and Lodge Riddle as attorney.

Leah Ann Philpot, of Salineville, as administratrix of the estate of Edward Philpot, has asked the court to give her authority to settle with the Pennsylvania company for her husband's death. While employed as a carpenter by that company Philpot received fatal injuries. The company claims no blame attaches to it, it offers $3,250 in settlement. The permission of the court to settle was granted.

be expected. The handsome donation of Professor Thompson was gratefully received, but there are conditions attached which will render it impossible to count the $1,000 as being a part of the institution's funds now.

Four donations of $100 each have been received during the past two years, coming from merchants and others of means. Aside from these every cent contributed has come from the working people of the city, the donations from this source being far in excess of that received from men who could afford to give generously. The association members are at a loss to account for this condition of affairs, and hope that some plan can be devised whereby the people of means may be induced to contribute to the most worthy cause.

At the meeting this afternoon steps will be taken to consolidate the sales.

CHILDREN'S PARTY

Enjoyable affair in Honor of the Little Daughter of Chal Peterson.

One of the prettiest little affairs given this season in the way of children's parties was that of the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chal Peterson on Saturday afternoon. The affair was in honor of the third birthday of Miss Ruth, and was attended by about 50 children. The house was beautifully decorated in cut flowers and palms. Red and white were the colors. Baby Ruth was dressed in white over red, and all the children presented a fine appearance.

Misses Kate Boyce, Maude Carr, Alice Swaney and Mrs. Frank Swaney, Mrs. John Anderson, Mrs. Wilson Smith and Mrs. Laura Williams assisted Mrs. Peterson in making the occasion memorable. There were games and music and light refreshments. Baby Ruth was the recipient of very many beautiful presents, among them fifteen solid silver spoons. The tiny guests enjoyed themselves to the utmost.

The measure applies to Mahoning and Summit counties only. If it passes it will affect Columbiana county when the next federal census is taken. The county's population at the federal census of 1900 was 68,590.

A bill by Mr. Willis, of Harding, provides for the printing of a roster of the Ohio soldiers who participated in the Spanish war.

Rummage Sale Well Patronized—A special sale is going on at the Sixth street rummage sale. All goods are being sold at a great reduction and the patronage is quite large.

For the Baseball Club—An entertainment, musical and literary, will be given at the Y. M. C. A. hall tonight. It is a benefit for the baseball club, to raise money to purchase suits.

Not Badly Hurt—Lawrence Stoffel, who was hurt Saturday night by colliding with a horse while coasting on Avondale street, is improving rapidly and not in any danger. The reports that his injuries are likely to result fatally are incorrect.

No Calcutta Road Car—Announcement was made yesterday evening by Supt. Thomas Reed, of the East Liverpool Railway company, that no car would be operated on the Calcutta branch until the weather moderated. The car that it is supposed to operate on this road is about completed, but it will not be run for several weeks at least.

Sleighing Party Postponed—The sleighing party that was to have been given last evening to the members of the Sunday school class of Miss Josie Burford, of the M. P. church, was postponed until later in the week. This evening Miss Emma Orr and Miss Jennie Lucas will give a sleighing party to a number of friends to Calcutta.

SECURED HIS LIBERTY

"Jabbers" Hoskins Pays Back Money He Confiscated And Is Out of Jail.

After spending several days in jail, "Jabbers" Hoskins secured his freedom yesterday afternoon, a friend having lent financial assistance. It required the sum of $9 to make up Hoskins' deficiency.

The young man pleaded guilty at the time of his arrest to having spent money which he found in a pocket-book belonging to Mrs. Narcissa Jackman. Her agreement to withdraw the charge of petit larceny and give Hoskins a chance to pay back the money saved him from a long jail sentence.
